CROWN QUEEN AT GRID GAME

Miss Iris Eckels Presides Over First Harding Homecoming Ceremony.

(Account of football game on sports page)

The honor of being the first Homecoming Queen of Harding High school was bestowed on Miss Iris Eckels, a senior, when she was crowned in a pre-game ceremony at the Harding-Circleville football game Friday night at Harding stadium.

Highlighting the evening's festivities were the intricate and unique formations by the Harding High school band during the halftime which were recognized by the large number of fans present as exceptional.

Last night was set aside by the Marion Athletic association as homecoming, the first in the history of the school, and it is hoped to make it an annual affair.

Another outstanding event among the activities of the evening was the selecting of the oldest graduate of the high school here. The distinction went to Mrs. Nellie B. Irey of 229 Hane avenue, a retired school teacher, who was graduated with the class of 1891. She is to be presented a watch in honor of the occasion by Carroll's Jewelry store.

Mrs. Irey said she was honored to receive the award, especially on the occasion of the first homecoming. She was presented the award and introduced to the audience by E. E. Holt, superintendent of city schools. The oldest graduate was located in the audience in a program conducted by E. Paul Huffman over the public address system.

Mrs. Irey, who retired a year ago, taught 32 years at Greenwood school where she served as principal. In her 1891 graduating class, 11 received diplomas. All are living but one. The game last night was the first which Mrs. Irey has attended this year as she recently returned from a five-month trip through the west and eastern states. However, Mrs. Irey says she always listens to the broadcast.

In Queen's Court

Members of Queen Iris Eckels' court were Miss Ann McDaniel, Miss Phyllis Badgley, Miss Jackie Gifford and Miss Mary Gruber.

UAW REVERSES SELF, COMPLIES WITH LAW

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The national labor relations board today began winnowing through hundreds of last minute union compliances with the non-Communist provision of the Taft-Hartley act.

Just under the wire was the big CIO United Auto Workers union, whose executive board reversed a previous stand and advised the NLRB the necessary papers would be filed as soon as possible.

The AFL United Mine Workers headed by John L. Lewis and the CIO Steelworkers were left out in the cold by their own choice.

Both stood pat, past last midnight's deadline, on their refusal to file the non-Communist pledges and financial statements required by the law. This means the 350,000 UWM members and the 80,000 Steelworkers are barred from services of the NLRB.

The steelworkers, however, stepped in at the eleventh hour with a challenge expected to lay the groundwork for a court test of the board's power to make the non-Communist rule stick.

Community Fund
Goal	$60,043.00
Raised to date	39,264.20
To be raised	20,778.80

With last night's reports totalling $39,264.20, representing 65.2 per cent of the goal set for the annual Community Chest drive to raise $60,043 to finance the agencies of the Marion Community Foundation in 1948, Ralph E. Carhart, chairman, and campaign leaders announced today that the drive will be extended through Tuesday, Nov. 11. Last night's report was scheduled as the final one for the campaign which opened Oct. 21.

"We definitely will meet our quota, but more time is needed to afford the workers in the residential sections to cover their territory," Mr. Carhart said today in expressing the views of the campaign leaders today. This year marks the first time in a number of years that the campaign has been carried on in a house-to-house canvass, Mr. Carhart explained, and it is a tremendous job to cover the city and county thoroughly.

Interest Shown

Proof that Marion residents are interested and anxious to become shareholders in "Marion's future" is indicated by the numerous inquiries received at the Community Foundation headquarters as to when the solicitor will call and many men and women who might not be reached by the solicitor because of unusual hours or living away from home, have taken their contributions to headquarters.

The following quotas for the various divisions, amounts raised to date, percentage and amount to be raised follows:

YUGOSLAVIA EXPELS 2 YANK REPORTERS

By The Associated Press

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, Nov. 1—Yugoslavia ordered two American correspondents today to leave the country within 24 hours.

A government spokesman said Arthur M. Brandel, correspondent of the New York Times, and his wife, Mary Lester, who represents the United Press, were being expelled because "their writing has not tended to create a better understanding between our two countries."

Brandel and his wife said they were awakened at 7:45 a. m. by a Yugoslav militiaman who told them:

"I am instructed by the ministry of the interior to inform you that you have 24 hours in which to leave our country. I am also instructed that if you do not leave, we shall take the necessary steps."

He did not say what such steps would be, nor did he give any reason for the expulsion order, the writers said. Brandel said he was informed by the manager of the Hotel Moskva, where he and his wife live, that the manager was instructed to have their apartment vacated by tomorrow morning.

(Brandel covered the recent trial of Peasant Party Leader Dragoljub Jovanovic, who was charged with treason. Jovanovic was sentenced Oct. 8 to nine years imprisonment, and defendant Franjo Gazi to five years. The Yugoslav press subsequently attacked Brandel for what it charged was distortion in his dispatches concerning the trial.)

Rails Asked To Consider Wage Boost Immediately

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 1—The nation's railroads have been requested to give immediate consideration to a demand for a 30 per cent wage increase for the 350,000 members of five operating railroad brotherhoods.

Declaring that "further neglect and delay could disturb railroad operations," representatives of the brotherhoods asked that their current negotiations with the carriers for changes in 44 working rules be set aside temporarily in favor of the wage proposal.

Youth Picks Wrong Car As Target for Tomatoes

A 16-year-old Marion youth was arrested at 11:53 last night at Davids and Buckeye streets for disorderly conduct, city police reported today. He was taken this morning to the Marion County Detention Home to await action by the juvenile court.

Police said that the youth had been throwing over-ripe tomatoes at passing automobiles and mistook the police cruiser for "just another passing auto."

HOME OWNERS THREATEN TO FORM POLITICAL PARTY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—The National Home and Property Owners foundation, which claims 60,000 members, threatened today to form its own political party to campaign for "less government in Washington and more on Main street."

Dr. Joseph W. Seay, director of the foundation, said the organization will try to increase its membership to 2,000,000 next year.

He declared in a statement that the group will "find out where every political candidate stands on the question of public housing, on the question of continued federal control over rents, and on the matter of confiscatory federal taxation."

ALASKA PLANE FOUND WITH NO SURVIVORS

By The Associated Press

KETCHIKAN, ALASKA, Nov. 1—A deep snow blanket near the top of Mount Tamgas, on Annette Island, hampered searchers seeking today to recover bodies of 18 persons killed when a Pan American Airways plane plowed into the peak last Sunday.

Eight Coast Guardsmen, led by Lieut. Comdr. F. S. Schreiber, reached the wreckage late yesterday and messaged they had found four bodies, with no survivors. The plane had apparently partly burned and exploded, scattering wreckage far and wide. With improved visibility, search planes found the spot earlier yesterday.

A possible cause of the crash was advanced by William L. Baker, editor and publisher of the Ketchizan Chronicle, who said he believed the 3,610 foot elevation listed for the peak on charts was incorrect. Baker voiced his theory after accompanying search planes on their flights around Mt. Tamgas.

Baker said the altimeter of a Coast Guard plane in which he was flying showed 3,400 feet at the level of the wreckage and that the summit loomed several hundred feet above, apparently at 4,000 or 4,100 feet. The crash scene was about six miles from the Annette air field.

Several pilots had also reported that the Annette island airport radio beam was wavering Sunday afternoon at the time of the crash, he said. Neither civil aeronautics administration officials nor Coast Guard officers would comment.

Three Marion Men Indicted

Charges Are Outgrowth of Flareup in Galion Factory Strike.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 1—Three Marion men were indicted Friday by the Crawford county grand jury on charges arising out of their activities in connection with the Galion strike.

The men named in the indictment are Richard C. Gibson, 28, of 392 Owens street, James A. Wilson, 29, of 361 Clinton street and Walter E. Foust, 30, of near Marion.

Five separate bills were returned against them charging, assault and battery, assault, kidnaping, theft and use of a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and grand larceny.

Charges arose out of the alleged "kidnaping" of two company employes and taking a company truck away from them during the Oct. 22 flare up at the North Electric company. In addition a "John Doe" is named in four of the bills returned against the three men.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl set arraignment for the Marion men at 1 p. m. Tuesday. They are free on $1,000 bond and are represented by Thomas C. Fetter, Marion attorney.

The grand jury returned indictments in 32 out of 35 cases after four days of deliberation. Three indictments are secret.

POLICE NAB THREE IN BOSTON HOLDUPS

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 1—An escaped convict who jumped out a fourth-floor window in a drawn-gun police chase was captured today and held for questioning with two other former prisoners in Boston's day apart payroll raids in which hooded gunmen snatched a total of $137,000.

George Hayes, 30, who broke out of State's prison Sept. 19, was taken early this morning after injuring himself gravely in a leap from a Cambridge apartment house, police reported.

Another former convict was arrested in the same apartment building a short time later, making three ex-prisoners now held in connection with a Thursday robbery of $108,000 and a Friday haul of $29,000 from two firms.

Police did not identify the second man arrested in the chase which started as a routine check on a reported prowler.

Police charged Hayes was carrying a loaded pistol and $1,150 in cash on him. They said they found in his car work clothes such as were worn by men in the holdup gangs.

They said they found a total of $1,595 in the apartment of the second man arrested.

Hayes and two other convicts broke from State's prison by scaling a wall but his two mates were recaptured the same night.

Patrick Farina, 34, third man arrested since the holdup, was charged with armed robbery in the $108,000 raid at the Sturtevant division of the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

A state prisoner Farina, was taken into custody last night in a barber shop where he was employed. Police quoted Farina as saying he worked all day Wednesday and Thursday.

Warrants also were issued for four others suspected of complicity in the holdup—the first of two payroll stickups in two days.

In the second four hooded gunmen snatched the $29,000 payroll from a paymaster's cage of the American Sugar Refining Company yesterday.

Peru's Capital Shaken By Strong Earthquake

By The Associated Press

LIMA, PERU, Nov. 1—A long and strong earthquake rocked Lima at 10 a. m. today.

The National wireless service announced today that the quake also was felt in Iquitos, capital of the Loreto department, about 650 miles northeast of this city.

COMPANY PLAN TO GO BEFORE UNION TODAY

Conference at 2 A. M. Ends 4 Days of Negotiation Over Labor Dispute.

Special to The Star

GALION, O., Nov. 1—The question of ending or going on with the bitter 10-week strike at the North Electric Co., described by both union and company as a test of the Taft-Hartley act, goes to the strikers themselves today as an aftermath of a strange 2 a. m. debate at the end of four days of negotiations.

The strikers, members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), were called to meet in a downtown hall this afternoon to hear what was announced as a final proposal.

This was a contract which would put into effect a 15 per cent pay increase offered Sept. 15 when the plant had been shut down 25 days by the strike, and providing for determination of the union strength by a cross check of membership pledge cards rather than by a secret collective bargaining election.

Richard Gosser of Toledo, regional director of the UAW-CIO, told the final meeting of exhausted company and union officials, conducted before reporters, that the union people present "objected" to the proposal. However, later he said he would "sleep on it," before deciding to recommend its acceptance or rejection by the strikers.

Hearing Adjourns

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) adjourned a two-day congressional investigation of the strike yesterday after listening to 33 witnesses. Hoffman's subcommittee of the house education and labor committee inquired particularly into a night raid by red-masked men who smashed machinery in the company's Kenton plant Oct. 22 and into a demonstration Sept. 11 at its Mt. Gilead branch. Neither of these plants is struck.

The two-day congressional subcommittee investigation closed on a discordant note.

Walter Murphy, UAW assistant regional director, told Congressman Hoffman that the "third degree questioning of witnesses constituted the most disgusting breach of civil liberties I have heard of, especially in this country."

"I am sure the American people will correct this at the polls."

Hoffman in a concluding statement said that "I want to stress that if unions continue to use violence and go far enough they will meet with violence on the part of peace-loving citizens in towns they invade."

Murphy's remarks to Congressman Hoffman immediately followed a statement to the press made by Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion expressing his belief "in the right to work without paying tribute."

Says Law Broken

"I have listened to most of the testimony before this committee," Congressman Smith said, "and as I view the matter, the law in respect to protecting people who wish to work in the North Electric Co. has broken down from the local level to the state level.

"That pertains also," he continued, "to the constitutional right of the North Electric Co. to control its own property. From the evidence presented here, it appears clearly evident that the attempt being made here (by the UAW) is being done clearly outside the statutes and presents an impossible situation if we wish to remain law abiding citizens.

"As far as I am concerned this is a matter which does not primarily concern the North Electric Co. or the union but the community and the United States as a whole. I have no objection to unions if voluntarily formed and no coercion used. I believe in the Constitution of the United States and in the right of the individual to work without having to pay tribute to anyone.

"There is no legal reason and there is no moral reason why the North Electric Co. should not be permitted to open its plant immediately and for employes to earn their daily bread. I think it is up to the law enforcement officers to see that this is brought about immediately."

Gosser earlier said that a tentative agreement on "some things" had been reached with company officials. However, he emphasized both union and company had taken the position "nothing is agreed to unless all is agreed to."

Accuses Hoffman

At the same time, Gosser charged that Hoffman was "attempting to incite people of this community to shoot each other."

Be Firm With Russia And She Will "Retire," Is Belief of Byrnes

This is a serialization of James F. Byrnes' "Speaking Frankly" —six of fifteen chapters of the book published Oct. 15, 1947, by Harper & Brothers. Copyright, 1947, by Donald S. Russell, trustee of the James F. Byrnes Foundation.

By JAMES F. BYRNES

As to whether the Soviet Union seeks security or expansion, I suppose the Soviets themselves, in analyzing their motives, would find it difficult to tell exactly where security ends and expansion begins. And if they did know the dividing line, I am certain they would not admit it. In considering this question, I keep thinking of the kind of people—and many of us know them—who buy the house or farm adjoining theirs for protection. The difficulty always is that there is another adjoining house or farm. So it is with the Soviets, who think the governments adjoining the Soviet Union or its satellites must be "friendly governments" for their security. The chief difference is that the Soviets do not buy the adjoining territory and they have no scruples about violating laws and pledges to acquire the property they want for security.

Frequently people ask whether, in the name of security, the Soviets intend to dominate all of continental Europe, I think they want in all European states a sufficient number of organized Communists so that they can dictate the policies of these states. I do not think they want to take over all European governments now. They fear the people of western Europe would not accept the form of government existing in the Soviet Union. They realize also that in most of those countries they have not yet trained leaders who could make such governments succeed, and failure would impair their prestige all over the world. For the present, while developing local leaders, they are satisfied to bide their time. By the threat of strikes and by encouraging discontent, they can in many states exert power without having responsibility. Greece is apparently their first objective. They are likely to seek next, through the usual infiltration method, control of the Italian government. This would be because of the military effect it would have on Greece and Turkey. I do not doubt that their ultimate goal is to dominate, in one way or another, all of Europe.

Marx View in 1853

In determining our course of action, Karl Marx is helpful. In 1853, about the Czar's demands on Turkey, he wrote:

"It would have been impossible for Russia to make more extensive demands upon Turkey after a series of signal victories. . . . If the other powers hold firm, Russia is sure to retire in a very decent manner."

Should the Soviet government get the impression that the United States and other members of the United Nations will only voice protests and will do nothing, Russia will continue the pursuit of these historic objectives. The Soviet government will do as it did shortly after the Yalta Conference in connection with Romania; it will take over a government and then say the matter has been settled and there is no excuse for further discussion.

But, on the other hand, if it is made to realize now that if it commits an act of aggression, we will appeal immediately to the security council of the United Nations; if we make it clear that a Soviet veto in the security council will bring a call upon the other United Nations to act collectively to support and enforce the principles of the charter—if these things are made clear, I do not believe the Soviets will violate the integrity of Iran, Turkey, Greece, Italy, or any other country.

Firmness Essential

For many reasons the Soviets do not want war now. They will, I believe, "retire in a very decent manner." But if the other powers do not "hold firm" then, as Marx warned us of the czarist Russians, "conquest follows conquest and annexation follows annexation."

We must not indulge in idle threats. We must not start anything we do not intend to finish. We must meet aggression and pressure with firm resistance. At the same time, we must be just and objective in our analysis of each situation. We should always keep the hand of friendship extended. And we should constantly make clear our earnest desire to live at peace with our neighbors.

Soviet policy, as it stands today, is fairly well revealed by the historic record I have cited. I should like to point to one other guidepost. It is the speech Stalin made to his Communist party comrades at the time of the first postwar election—Feb. 9, 1946. A speech on such an occasion and to such an audience is a far more reliable guide, I believe, than the statements made to visiting Americans and foreign correspondents. In it Stalin had this to say of the future:

"I have no doubt that if we render the necessary assistance to our scientists they will be able not only to overtake but also in the very near future to surpass the achievements outside the boundaries of our country. As far as plans for a longer period are concerned, the party intends to organize a mighty upsurge of national economy which will enable us to increase the level of our production, for instance, threefold as compared with the prewar level.

"To achieve this, we must endeavor to see that our industry produces 50 million tons of pig iron per year; 60 million tons of steel, 500 million tons of coal and 60 million tons of oil.

"Only under such conditions will our country be insured against any eventuality. Perhaps three new Five-Year Plans will be required to achieve this, if not more. But it can be done and we must do it."

Time is not all on the side of the Soviet government.

Russian People a Mystery

In seeking to answer the question, "What are they like?" I have said nothing of the Russian people. I have spoken only of the Russian leaders. They are the only Russians I know. Few Americans have been able to really learn much about the Russian people.

In evaluating present Russian policy, we can ignore the mass of Russians; they have no more influence on Soviet foreign policy today than they did under the Czars. But in considering future policy, we must not ignore them. They are, I believe, our hope. I cannot believe that the Russian peasant, who fought with such valor to defend his own home and land, really wants to impose foreign rule on people like himself. I cannot believe that the Russian worker, who only a few years ago emerged from conditions approaching slavery, would knowingly deprive other workers in other lands of their freedom.

I once said "there is no iron curtain that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate." I believe that. And I also believe there is a reasonable chance that we have enough time at our disposal to bring these sentiments to bear on the people and the leaders of the Soviet Union.

I also have said that "we must guard against the belief that delays or setbacks in achieving our objective make armed conflict inevitable." It is one of the beliefs held by the Soviet leaders that makes our task so difficult. But we will never be able to rid them or the rest of the world of that belief if we ourselves become its victims.

Time Not Our Ally

Neither is time necessarily on the Russian side in the non-Soviet countries.

Today the Soviets have armies in Germany, Austria, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Manchuria. An occupation army is an idle army and an idle army is a bad army. The very purpose of retaining soldiers in a foreign country is to restrict the lives and liberties of the people of that country. People who want to be free resent the presence of occupation troops and they grow to hate the country that keeps them there. They grow also to hate, perhaps even more intensely, the puppets who are kept in office by a foreign army. As long as the army is there, the people are cowed into submission. But when the Red army leaves, the legacy of hatred it leaves behind will mean a difficult and uncertain future for the puppets in government and in the militia.

The Soviet government cannot indefinitely find reasons for keeping troops in these states. Five treaties of peace already have been concluded. The Soviet Union has not yet ratified the treaties, but I think it will. Our senate did not ratify them until four months after they were submitted. When they are ratified, it will be difficult for the Soviets to postpone for long the reduction in occupation forces that these treaties require. These states then become eligible for admission to the United Nations. Once they are members, it is then the obligation of all the United Nations to protect them from pressure and aggression. The sooner we prove to these countries that this obligation will be discharged, the sooner they will be encouraged to assert their independence.

Why They Told Hitler

I conclude that the Russians are after everything they set forth in the written statement to Hitler, together with a number of additional "aspirations" they have developed as a result of their success in the war.

The Soviets did not tell Hitler their aspirations because of their love and affection for him. They told him only because they feared that if they tried to take territory without his consent, he would use force to stop them. Today there is no military strength in Europe to restrain the Russians. Only the power of the United Nations can do it. The United Nations must make known its determination to act to protect the threatened states. And the United States must make known its determination to use all of its power to support the action of the United Nations.

In the final installment of his book, "Speaking Frankly," which will be published Monday, Mr. Byrnes answers his own question: Where do we go from here? He sees reason for hope in the United Nations, as well as in the moves initiated by Secretary of State Marshall, his successor, to bring European nations into agreement on their needs for American help.

RUSSIA WALKED from the security council meeting of the United Nations when she was defeated 9 to 2 on her demand to postpone consideration of the Iranian issue. Russian Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko and his staff stalked in a huff from the chamber at Hunter college after a bitter exchange with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. Photo shows: Russian Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko (left) busily taking notes while Secretary of State Byrnes (center) heroically pleads the case for the smaller nations. Left to right are Mr. Gromyko, Sir Alexander Cadogan, United Kingdom, Edward A. Stettinius Jr., U. S., Secretary Byrnes, Col. W. R. Hodgson, Australia and Dr. Pedro Velloso, Brazil.

GAS COMPANY ASKS O.K. FOR EXPANSION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — The Ohio Fuel Gas Company of Columbus, O., has asked the power commission to authorize a $2,310,800 expansion program.

The company serves Marion and other communities in this section of Ohio.

The proposed additions, to serve additional pipeline gas during the summer months and to meet current market needs, include:

1. A 6,350 horsepower, five unit natural gas compressor station in Monroe township, Richland county, to serve as a repressuring station for the Perrysville storage area.

The compressor units would be moved from the Treat and Pavonia stations and when Monroe station is completed the Perrysville station and a part of the Brown station would be retired.

2. 22 miles of 16-inch gas transmission lines in Knox and Richland counties from Brown station to the Monroe and Pavonia stations.

3. Extension of the present storage areas by the addition of 15 partially depleted producing wells, covering about 1,500 acres and with an estimated capacity of 1,500,000,000 cubic feet.

The company said it had an option to purchase a site for the Monroe station. It plans to start construction in November, and complete the station by next May.

Pipe for the 16-inch line is to be delivered in January and construction will start next spring, with the line to go into operation in the winter of 1949-50.

The company said it will obtain storage gas from United Fuel Gas Company, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, and Texas Eastern Transmission corporation as well as from its own production.

Ohio Fuel is a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation.

ELECTION

are E. Paul Bachman (incumbent), Dr. D. W. Brickley Jr. (incumbent), J. D. Torrance (incumbent), Harold D. Runkle and William E. Gries. The ballot is non-partisan.

On the same ballot with the school board members are two candidates for Marion township offices. Neither has opposition. They are Howard McCurdy for trustee and Kenneth Tobin for clerk.

The name of W. Dexter Hazen is alone on the judicial ballot for election of a municipal judge. He is a candidate for reelection and has no opposition.

The fairgrounds coliseum issue will be on the ballot as an agricultural levy. The vote is on the question of levying a one mill tax for a five-year period for the purpose of building a coliseum at the fairgrounds. The building is planned to have a seating capacity of 6,000 and is estimated to cost from $350,000 to $375,000. It is sponsored by the board of county commissioners and the County Agricultural society.

State Proposals

Briefly the amendments to the state constitution are as follows:

To provide funds for paying a bonus to Ohioans who served in the armed forces in World War II.

To lengthen the term of probate judges from four to six years and to provide for part of their salaries to be paid by the state.

To prohibit the diversion of gasoline taxes from the state fund for highways to the state general fund.

To make the governor and state treasurer members of the state sinking fund commission.

The vote on all the special issues will be "yes" or "no."

Rural Area Proposals

Of the seven special issues affecting rural areas only five are to provide additional funds for school operating purposes. One is a tax levy to provide funds for street lighting in Waldo. The other is a bond issue for a new Marion township school building.

A list of the issues follows:

Montgomery local school district (Meeker), an additional two-mill levy for three years for school operating expenses.

Prospect local school district—renewal of five mills and an increase of one mill for a six-mill levy to run three years for school purposes.

Green Camp local school district—renewal of three mills and increase of one mill for a four-mill levy to run three years for school purposes.

Scott township local school district (Kirkpatrick)—renewal of three mills and increase of three mills for a six-mill levy to run two years for school expenses.

Tully township local school district (Martel)—renewal of two mills and increase of three mills for a five-mill levy to run five years for school purposes.

Waldo village—three-mill levy for five years for street lighting purposes.

Marion township local school district—a 2.51 mill levy to run 20 years to pay off a $76,000 bond issue.

The Marion township bond issue proposal is for the purpose of building a new $76,000 building to replace Campbell school, the one remaining one-room school in Marion township. A similar issue was defeated at a previous election. Only residents of Marion township outside of the Marion city school district will vote on the proposal.

Few Absentee Ballots

That interest is lacking in the Tuesday voting is indicated by the low number of absentee ballots cast at the board of elections, Mrs. Nora Fetter, deputy clerk of the board, reported that only 100 persons had cast ballots in advance of the regular election day.

Of these 89 were persons who will be away from their regular voting place on election day, six who are unable to visit the polls because of illness or infirmities and five servicemen's ballots. All ballots were cast by servicemen within the United States.

One Voting Place Change

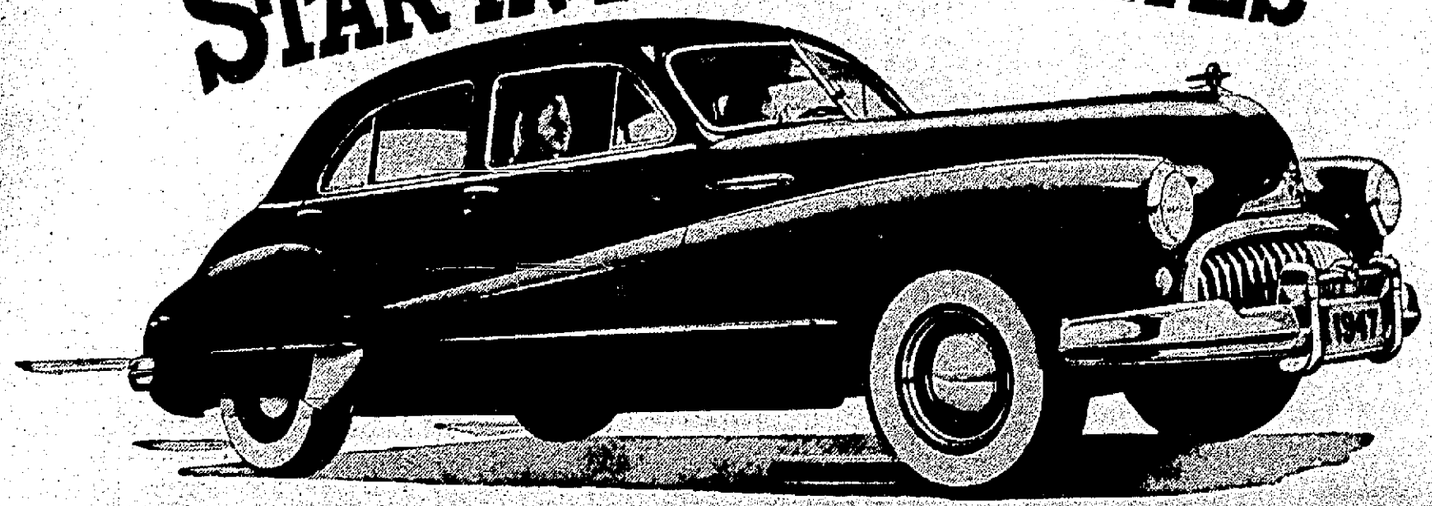
STAR IN ANYONE'S EYES



MAYBE you're a beauty lover with an eye for standout style and the long, sleek, flowing line.

Know anything on the road today that's more the picture of perfect grace — more certainly the forerunner of the coming things in cars?

Or maybe you are strong for action — like the exciting feel of a really able performer, thrilling in its abundance of power, instant and sure in its responses.

Ever sample the wallop in this big Fireball straight-eight — or Buick's swift answer to your wheel hand and your treadle foot?

It could be you like comfort. Broad seats, plenty of room, a soft and gentle ride that asks no favors from the road.

Come see what happens when you get a stout and rugged chassis, easy coil springs on all four wheels, room for three on front seat and back, and low-pressure tires that are like pillows on each wheel.

Or possibly, as a family man, you give more than a thought to the safety of those who ride with you.

You'll find this one starring on that score too — in controls that are firm and sure, bodies that are stout and rugged, even wheel-rims that are extra wide for control in emergencies, stability on curves and a firm, sure grip-on-the-road against sudden stops or skiddy going.

In truth, whatever you put first in an automobile — style, size, room, handling, comfort, controllability — you'll find this one putting stars in your eyes.

A joy to see, a thrill to handle, a dream to drive and ride in, it's America's most wanted car not on one count but on all of them.

Why wait vainly for others to catch up, when an order placed NOW, with or without a car to trade, makes you certain of getting the latest and choicest thing on the highway?

A Worthy Recipient

AWARD of the 1947 Nobel peace to the Society of Friends honors a religious organization which long has practiced its Christian creed by carrying aid to devastated and poverty-stricken areas.

For almost 90 years the American Friends, or Quakers, have carried on work among the Indian tribes. They have contributed much to Negro education. Through their International organization they have succored the poor and homeless in many parts of the world. In recent years there has been a great increase in cooperation among the various branches of friends to aid Europe's oppressed minorities.

There was speculation this year about the choice for the prize. The Norwegian award committee wouldn't risk offending Russia, yet neither did it wish to appear to be yielding to Russian pressure. The committee's choice may not please the Russians, but they can hardly object to it, for the Russians themselves were beneficiaries of the Friends' ministrations in the famine after World War I.

Two Proposed Amendments

TWO of the four proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Tuesday have attracted little attention, for they would provide only routine changes in the state's basic law. There is no apparent reason why either should be voted down.

The first would affect probate judges, increasing their terms from 4 to 6 years and authorizing the legislature to allocate funds to pay part of their salaries. It would not increase their pay. Common pleas and appellate judges have six-year terms nad part of their pay comes from the state. It seems logical that probate judges should be in the same status.

The other proposed amendment provides that the governor and the treasurer be added to the state sinking fund commission, which now consists of the auditor, the attorney general and the secretary of state. Here it seems logical that the governor and the treasurer should bring their knowledge of the state's operation to the administration of the fund.

An Unhealthy Sign

THE resurgence of Charles de Gaulle as a major factor in French political life has caused little enthusiasm in America. Although a tower of strength in France's hour of need, the general has never been a rallying-point for democracy. Now he is indulging in fuzzy political mysticism. He says France needs a new kind of state. He would change the "bad" institutions and rally the people "in our task of moral, economic and social revolution."

He is more specific than that but he takes a dim view of existing political parties. He envisions his reunion of the French people as one big party with everybody pulling together. The "one big party" idea bodes ill for minorities, for personal freedom and for all democracy holds dear. The general has long been known as an expert on mechanical warfare but his political ideas sound more like those of a man on horseback.

In France's recent elections the Communists held their strength. De Gaulle's gains come from the centrists. The middle of the road is clearing in France. It is not a healthy sign. For when there is only a strong extreme right and a strong extreme left the middle of the road becomes a no man's land where the pitched battles are fought.

Success Assured

THE "Friendship Train" stunt of the citizens food committee will be a great success. It will take advantage, in an acceptable manner, of the American people's generosity. The food it is expected to collect for European relief will be given cheerfully.

The demonstration of good will thus made possible will correct an impression that the country is reluctantly cooperating in assistance of Europe. The fact of the matter is that the reluctance is being applied only to those measures of assistance that the government seems to be bungling. It isn't the hunger of Europeans that's in doubt, but the clear-headedness of the Truman administration.

The citizens food committee's "Friendship Train" is only a gesture, an ineffectual gesture in relation to the need for food to send to Europe. But it is a well-timed gesture—one that will show there is no lack of generosity among the American people, only a lack of confidence in the ability of government to translate generosity into action.

Did You Know

Before the coming of the white man, the Indian country of Kentake (Kentucky) was subject to claims by several Indian tribes and Indians dared not hunt there.

The ampere, measure of the rate of flow of electricity, was named after Andre Marie Ampere, inventor of the electro-magnet.

The "watt," a measure of electricity, is named in honor of James Watt, inventor of the steam engine.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Production Called Biggest European Problem.

NO MATTER WHAT the almost hysterical propaganda of the state department is concerning the 16 to 1 plan, the fact is that the central problem of Europe is not so much the accumulation of American dollars as it is a return to production. Nowhere in Ernest Bevin's report, which is under consideration as the Marshall plan, is the proposal to return to a 44 or a 48-hour week. Unless that is done, production cannot be sufficient in any European country to meet domestic needs with provision for export so that dollars may be accumulated in the usual course of trade.

Henry Hazlitt, in his significant study, "Will Dollars Save the World?" issued by the Foundation for Economic Education, Irvington-on-Hudson, New York, says:

". . . Germany has become the economic cancer spot of Europe. It has been producing a pitiable fraction of its pre-war industrial output. Steel production in the British and American zones, which reached 17,800,000 tons in 1938, has been cut down in 1947 to a base 2,800,000. To support their own economies, the Allies have tried to encourage at least the production of coal. But the bi-zone in western Germany, even according to the optimistic estimates of the 16 European nations reporting on the Marshall plan, will produce only 133,000,000 tons of coal and lignite in 1947 compared with 206,000,000 in 1938. As the Ruhr, second only to Britain, was the greatest pre-war source of Europe's coal supply, the result of this output shrinkage has been to slow down the whole economy of Europe."

It is possible that sometime in the future industrial establishments will operate on some other fuel than coal, but at present coal and iron are the basis of industry and unless coal is mined and steel is produced, industry must be at low ebb; in some places, even at a standstill. Does it serve Europe to send American coal, from West Virginia or Utah, to England or Germany at American prices, financed by American credits, while the Europeans will not work? Is fulsome charity a substitute for self-support through work?

Ernest Bevin's report says:

"The recovery programme is based upon four points:—

"(I) A strong production effort by each of the participating countries, especially in agriculture, fuel and power, transport, and the modernization of equipment.

"(II) The creation and maintenance of internal financial stability as an essential conditon for securing the full use of Europe's productive and financial resources.

"(III) The development of economic cooperation between the participating countries.

"(IV) A solution of the problem of the participating countries deficit with the American continent particularly by exports."

More Work Not Included

Point one of this program might be regarded as including increased work, increased hours of work, but actually it does no such thing. In the present political situation, no European government would dare tell their people that work is the cure. Bevin says, referring to the program:

". . . It calls for an unprecedented peace-time effort of work by the whole population of all the participating countries . . ."

That is an indirect statement of the case. It is easier to say it round-about than to issue the mandate, "Work!" For unless the Europeans go to work, all the aid we may send them will be wasted and dissipated. It is like a man who mortgages his home to buy his wife—or some other lady—a mink coat. It is, indeed, operation rathole.

How Will They Do It?

For instance, the Bevin report proposes to increase by 1951 the coal production of Europe by 30 million tons above the 1938 level. How is this to be done? On a 35-hour week? Or giving a workless day bonus for those who actually work 35 hours a week, without any absenteeism? Coal production is today 20 per cent below the 1938 level in Europe. Can they raise it to 30 per cent above that level with no other stimulant than American dollars? Obviously, they cannot. Obviously, the plan must be declared a fraud unless it includes increased hours of work, no featherbedding, no absenteeism, a willingness to add muscle and brawn to borrowed dollars.

This is not being discussed in Washington or anywhere else. It is too political. The truth is too often a hot potato.

Pity the Poor Man Without an Honest Face

All government controls over credit buying expired at midnight.

This marks the return of two old friends: the low down payment and long, easy terms. . . . to say nothing of the man who comes around.

Henceforth, the only restriction on time payments will be imposed by one's life expectancy.

Soon now, sales people will return to their former habit of regarding with suspicion those who insist on paying cash.

This nation was conceived in liberty, born in freedom and run on credit. Our national motto is never put off buying until tomorrow what you can pay for a dollar a week.

Europe's turning to the Marshall plan and we're returning to the installment plan. Shortly we'll re-live again the good old days, when a man's success is measured —not by his income—but by his credit rating.

Every Man for Himself

By Frank Tripp

THE boys who claim to have the answer to our shortages and high prices charge them to low production; say that folks don't work long enough or fast enough to produce as much as they consume.

If Robinson Crusoe had thus kidded himself, only he and his man Friday would have suffered, but in our complex society everybody works for somebody else.

Almost everybody is making something that somebody else needs in order to live, from food and shelter to the luxuries which we have come to view as necessities.

Thus when anybody who is making things that other people need doesn't deliver an honest and productive day's work, he is gypping his neighbor rather than the boss for whom he works. Meantime another slowed-down worker, maybe way off in Kansas, is gypping him.

Because everything we make, we produce for each other—not for the man who hires us.

Therefore when many workers slow down or work less, shortages result and higher prices are inevitable.

The number of hours a man works, or what he is paid, is far less important than the production he delivers while he does work. If he can, and will, produce as much in 40 hours as he did in 48, then production does not suffer.

The extent by which weekly production is reduced means that somebody will have that much less and pay more for it. Anybody who preaches that we can produce less and have more should have his head examined.

Any half-smart man can figure it out for himself. He only needs to imagine that what he makes he is making just for his own use, rather than to be sold to another worker in Timbuktu.

If he's going to have what he needs he's got to work long enough and fast enough to produce it. Just as Robinson Crusoe and Friday had to do.

We're working for dollars, not for results. Dollars which we fool ourselves will buy something that our slowed-down production fails to produce.

Therefore our dollars become worthless and less and our bins get emptier and emptier. If we were working just for ourselves we would work as long and as hard as our needs demanded—or we would go without.

I saw an automobile mechanic painting his own bungalow; thought maybe he'd retired or got fired, and asked him about it.

"It's the only way I can afford to have my house painted," he said. "It had to be done and I got an estimate. At the rate per hour they asked I would have to work four weeks to pay for the job. I couldn't afford it."

"I've painted my house before," he went on, "and knew I could do it in two weeks of steady plugging. So I laid off for two weeks and I'm going to get a dandy job for half their price."

"Now, wait a minute," I said, "you're upsetting our whole economic system. That's the way primitive man started out; did everything for himself."

I expounded on how the day of the specialist came about; how men came to sell their labor to each other. "Suppose everybody painted his own house," I said. "What would become of the painters?"

"But I can't afford to pay their prices," he replied. "They charge twice as much as I earn. How can I pay more than I earn?"

"You only paint your house now and then," I reminded him. "Wouldn't you be able to pay the painter for two weeks' work, say every three years?"

"Hell yes," he retorted. "Every year, for two weeks' work, but he won't paint it in two weeks like I will.

"You see, it ain't his house."

Paul Revere Loses Race to Traffic Cop

By The Associated Press

BURLINGTON, Vt.—Paul Revere strayed off his route, tied his horse to a parking meter outside the Hotel Vermont—and got a ticket.

Revere—impersonated by Veterans Club President Robert Jolly

Not even Paul Revere gets a ticket torn up, said Burlington police, and they haled him into court.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

"This is what I like about football—anything can happen!"

Innocence of Eric Johnston

By Raymond Moley

ERIC JOHNSTON seems to be quite ignorant of the history of his own motion-picture industry. If not, he would scarcely have rushed to its defense by denying all its sins and attacking an established congressional institution. For he should have known that, however rough the club the Thomas committee was wielding, it was exactly the thing that will ultimately produce better pictures and bring about a much-needed reform in the industry.

Over a period of eight years this reporter was engaged in writing a history of the Hays office up to the employment of Johnston. In the course of the researches involved in that work, one certain thing became apparent. The motion picture industry will never awaken to a sense of responsibility until something really hurts it. Despite the great showmanship of its leaders, the industry is grossly oblivious to waves of public indignation until they have swept over it with the fury of a hurricane.

Crisis Faced in 1922

Back in 1922, Will Hays was employed because the motion picture heads were desperately frightened. A torrent of dirty pictures had appeared in the backwash of World War I. A wave of popular indignation swept over the land, and state after state enacted censorship laws. It was apparent that, if the trend continued, the picture business was doomed, because the cost of trimming pictures to fit dozens of censor boards would have been prohibitive.

Hays, a master of public opinion, stopped the drift to political censorship by getting the industry to promise a clean-up. A primitive code of morals known as the "Don'ts and Be Carefuls" was adopted. It was never really enforced, and, after sound pictures came in, bad pictures again appeared. In 1930, Hays and Martin Quigley, publisher of motion picture trade periodicals, produced a production code, which was adopted. Again, enforcement lagged, and bad pictures appeared during the depression.

Then there arose in all its might a real threat. A group of powerful Roman Catholic Bishops and the Legion of Decency demanded enforcement of the Code—or else. They simply said they would keep communicants away from shady pictures. This time, the industry was really scared, and strong enforcement came in which has been successful on the moral side, despite the complaints of some critics, directors and actors.

The point is that the industry itself can, if it will, deal with Communist or any other kind of propaganda in pictures. Any newspaper or magazine can keep termites out of its editorial rooms and eliminate propaganda from its product. This self-government is going on in a thousand editorial offices every day. It simply requires the will-to-do in the industry.

But the other fact is that the motion picture industry is so dull to its responsibilities that it will go to the brink of ruin before it pulls itself together. The un-American activities committee is a heavy and dull instrument. It hits hard and not always accurately. Some innocent people may get hurt. But it is striking at a real evil, and it will get results by self-made reforms in the industry.

Johnston and the industry are following a familiar tactic. They are appearing with holy protestations of innocence and pratings about constitutional rights. As in 1941, big-name lawyers are employed. It is Paul V. McNutt this time. It was Wendell Willkie in 1941. The war saved the industry then. This time, things may be different.

It is significant that Hays, in 1941, prepared a statement which did not appear in the hearings. He remained in the background. Now, Eric Johnston rushes into the fray. To make matters worse, he made his protest on the same day that there also appeared a witness whose Communist affiliations seem to be established by the committee. This coincidence is clearly bad public-relations strategy. And, presumably, Johnston was employed as an expert in public relations!

Soviet Boosts Its Tea Production

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW—Along with her fine grain and sugar crops for this year, the Soviet Union is going to have an excellent tea yield.

Based on reports from all of the tea growing regions of the south, the Moscow News called the crop "excellent."

Georgia, Azerbaijan and Krasnodar Territory have completed their plan of state tea leaf deliveries ahead of schedule and the first few hundred tons of the 1947 tea have already reached the factories.

A report stated the collective and state tea plantations of subtropical Georgia have over fulfilled the plan by 796 tons and topped last year's crop by 7,122 tons. Russians are among the world's greatest tea drinkers.

Ready for Anything

By Truman Twill

This column can be pounded out today with hearty enthusiasm. Things are looking up. They are going to make it fashionable for men to carry handbags.

The idea is that men carry more stuff than can be stowed away in their pockets conveniently. Some would like to carry as much stuff as women carry—enough to fill a satchel.

The reason for being enthusiastic is that clothing designers are getting behind this, to keep men from making a mess of their suits. . . we can see ourself now filling our handbag for a day at the office.

Two sandwiches, a thermos jug full of hot coffee, a toothbrush, a hairbrush and comb, a bottle of goo to hold down the skin on our scalp, an extra handkerchief or two for the head cold that always gets worse before it gets better;

An electric shaver for a quick once-over in the middle of the afternoon, a spare pair of shoelaces for a change in the event the frayed one on the left shoe breaks, a small brush to keep the shoes polished, a file for the nails, a pair of clippers for same;

An extra pair of garters in case of mechanical failure, a change of neckties, a clean shirt, a pair of dry socks, a deck of cards, a package of cigarets, a package of smoking tobacco, two pipes, a pipe reamer, a package of pipe cleaners, a pair of mittens in case it turns cold;

A can of after-shave talcum, a bottle of after-shave lotion, a key case, a notebook, a mechanical pencil, extra leads for same, a couple of buttons and a needle and thread for emergency repairs, a pair of pliers and a graphite stick in the event of zipper trouble;

A folder containing indispensable papers, a buckeye to ward off rheumatism, a silver dollar for luck, assorted sizes of paper clips, a small mirror, a cupful of tobacco crumps, pictures of the family, a dozen identification cards, licenses and instructions about disposing of the body in case of injury.

There also will be room for a flashlight, a set of tools, a stocking cap for windy weather, a raincoat, a jar of peanut butter, a check book, a small can of lubricating oil, a bottle of ink, a pair of sun glasses, one of those hoot-nannies for chapped lips, a bottle of iodine and a package of tailor-made bandages for small cuts.

If women can cram all that gooney in their handbgas, men should be able to do at least as well—hay fellows? Of course it's going to take something pretty big, but look what women carry. Steamer trunks, practically. Maybe there will be room for a box of cigars and a portable . . . but that would be asking too much.

He cited a telegram of support from President Truman and promises from 28 governors that they would issue proclamations. Mayors of 150 cities offered to make radio appeals urging people to read the Bible.

First Task of the Church

A Sermonette

By REV. W. E. ZIMMERMAN
Pastor of First Church of the Nazarene

Text: "For the Son of man is come to seek and save that which is lost." Luke 19:10.

THE thing that made Jesus so outstandingly different from others of His day was the fact that He came to save mankind. There were men in His day, who were working at the task of saving men of their own race, or creed or nation. But Jesus was an astonishment to His world in that He wanted to save all mankind. Whether they were rich or poor, high or low, black or white, Jew or Gentile, wherever Jesus came in contact with people He always tried to save them. If it was a Samaritan woman at the well, Jesus gave her the living water. If it was the woman taken in adultery, Jesus condemned her not and told her to go and sin no more. If it was a Mary Magdalene He cast the devils out of her and left her with love in her heart. If it was the rich Zacchseus He bade him come down and went to his home and dined with him. If it was the despised, tax gathering Matthew He bade him follow Him.

Here we find the pattern set for us as the followers of Christ to follow. If the church is to be the true representative for the Christ in this world we must be about our Master's business, seeking and saving the lost. And right here is where the church is lable to fail if she is not careful.

There are so many things tossed into the lap of the church for her to do these days. Every good thing that comes along, many folk seem to think, the church ought to take the responsibility for it.

Social reforms, recreational programs, educational programs, humanitarian movements, the feeding of the poor, clothing the naked, healing the sick and a hundred and one other things that are good try to claim the attention of the church, until the church is so busy doing these good things that she has no time to do the main thing she is supposed to be doing, that is the saving of the souls of men.

Jesus could have done a lot of other things while here on earth that would have been good and right, but if He had, He would never have been the Saviour of the world. Slavery, drunkenness, social inequality, ignorance and many other world confusing disorders existed in Jesus' day just like they do today, but Jesus stuck to His main task, and that was to seek and to save that which was lost.

When Jesus was nearing the day of His departure and He gave His instruction to His disciples. He was very brief in what He told them to do. He told them to go to the upper room and tarry until they were endued with power from on high. What for? In order that they might be witnesses unto Him, both in Jrusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth. And to prove to them what this witnessing was to do, notice what happened when they came down out of that upper room on the day of Pentecost. They began to witness and soon 3,000 souls were saved. On the inaugural day of the church they started off doing the thing that Jesus came to do—seeking and saving the lost. The closer we keep to this pattern the more fully we will fulfill our purpose here on this earth.

MRS. DOVERSPIKE

REV. ROBERT R. DOVERSPIKE

Evangelists for revival services at Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church, beginning Sunday morning, will be Rev. and Mrs. Robert R. Doverspike of Salix, Pa. Both will preach, and will present special music including vocal solos and duets. In September, they concluded work at an Evangelical United Brethren church at Johnstown, Pa., where Rev. Doverspike was pastor, to engage in full time evangelistic work. Both have had several years of experience in both the pastoral and evangelistic fields. During the two-weeks meeting Mrs. Doverspike will lead congregational singing and will conduct children's and young people's services. The meetings, each night except Saturday, at 7:30, will be open to the public, Rev. H. V. Falor, pastor, announced.

PROGRAM OF MUSIC AT CHURCH NOV. 12

Arrangements are being made for an evening of music at First Evangelical United Brethren church Nov. 12 when a concert of recordings will be presented. The recorded complete "Messiah" by Handel, sung by the famous Huddersfield Choral society of Liverpool, England, will be presented in a two-hour program. This program will be open to the public, with no admission charge, it was announced.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS TO BEGIN SUNDAY

Plans have been completed by the Marion Kiwanis club for a citywide religious census which will open tomorrow. The city will be covered in a house to house canvass next week seeking information from each family as to church attendance or church preference. Approximately 200 workers from membership of the club and from various churches have been enlisted, each with a specified territory to cover. A census card will be filled out for each family by the workers. Completed cards will go to designated supervisors or key workers. Results will be tabulated by a committee composed of wives of the Kiwanis members at the Y.M.C.A. Individual church pastors will then be given the cards which list their particular churches. This project comes under the church committee of the club headed by Dr. G. C. Nuetzel.

MARION MISSIONARY COUPLE VOTED FUND

Calvary Church To Aid Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Zimmer.

As a missionary project adopted by Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church recently, the congregation has pledged a donation of $1,500 a year toward the support of Rev. Gerald Zimmer, former Marion man, and Mrs. Zimmer and family, missionaries to China. The Zimmers are located at Tungjen, Kwelchow, China, where they began serving in 1937. Rev. Zimmer is a son of Mrs. Ed Boylan of 210 Boone avenue, and is a graduate of Harding High school and a former member of Calvary church.

During war years, 1941 to 1944, he was in this country. Three years ago, he returned to China, however, with 20 others as a liason officer, after request of the Chinese government to the government in this country for men to promote and maintain better feeling between the soldiers of the Chinese government's armies and those of the United States there. He served in this capacity for a time, then went back into regular missionary work. In September last year, Mrs. Zimmer and their three children, Sherwood, born in China, and Nancy and Stanley, twins born in this country, returned to China.

Letters from the Zimmers to Rev. Zimmer's mother, tell of extremely high prices there. Mrs. Boylan sent recently a food locker of various things of which the family was in need. During the summer months, she stated, they suffered from intense heat, "hottest temperatures recorded in 70 years." The mission station is several hundred miles inland. Rev. Zimmer suffered two serious illnesses, and Nancy, four-year-old twin, is recovering from a serious illness, Mrs. Boylan reported. Calvary church has previously sent generous gifts of money for the mission work there, and a Mother's day gift of money this year to Mrs. Zimmer, she stated. The next furlough of the missionary family will be due two years from now.

TAX TALK HEARD BY EXCHANGE CLUB

Levies Discussed at Luncheon by Carl Haberman.

Carl Haberman was the speaker in the weekly meeting of the Exchange club at Hotel Harding Thursday noon. He spoke on tax problems of manufacturers, businessmen and individuals.

Mr. Haberman said that taxes such as excise, income and social security, and the hidden taxes such as tobacco and commodity take as much as fifty per cent of a $20,000 income. He also pointed out that Ohio tax laws are not as favorable on the income taxes as states like California where husband and wife may file separate returns and thus reduce the amount of taxes because of smaller income. Exchange clubs throughout Ohio are urging the adoption of that same procedure to lower the cost of Ohio's taxes.

A delegation of six members were named to represent the Marion club at the Exchange club charter meeting to be held at the Greenlawn night club, east of Bucyrus, Saturday, Nov. 1. Those named were Sheriff LeRoy Retterer, Dr. M. C. Smally, Jack Arter, Carl Haberman, Mel Daugherty, and F. Howard Lawson.

EXCHANGE PROGRAM

An exchange program by the Martel Grange was given at a meeting of United Grange Tuesday night at the Grange hall. Three candidates were given the membership obligation. Taking part on the program were Miss Shirley Pangborn, piano solo; Mrs. Kensel Neff and Mrs. James McKinstry, readings; Raymond Pangborn, Walter Rinehart, Gilbert Goebel and Dan Down, quartet; Mrs. Ruth Holtsberry, accordion solo. A stunt and contest were in charge of Mrs. Clyde Logan. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sirine, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Coulter and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Foos.

Nazarene Congregation Gets New Home as Church Moves

Marion's First Church of the Nazarene came into possession of a new church home today. Several months ago it was realized that more room for the steadily increasing Nazarene membership was a pressing necessity. At first a building project was considered. However, circumstances which left a more spacious edifice available "ready made," caused change of plans. After completion of redecoration and remodeling, the building on West Church street, recently vacated by the Central Christian church congregation, will be occupied by the Nazarene group. Plans are to hold the first service in the new church home the first Sunday of 1948.

The present Nazarene building on South State street has been contracted for by a newly organized congregation, the Maranatha Bible church, and until first of the year, joint occupancy will be by the outgoing and incoming groups. The Nazarenes will carry on regular services, while the Maranatha church will have services Sunday afternoons and Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Rev. Earl L. Holliday is pastor of the newly formed church. Rev. W. E. Zimmerman is pastor of First Church of the Nazarene. Central Christian church, of which Rev. Eldred Johnston is pastor, has moved into new quarters, the Etowah estate on Mt. Vernon avenue, former home of the Ray R. King family and of the W. Hoover Brown family.

Formed In 1913

It was in 1913 that a small group of Marion people desired to unite with the Church of the Nazarene. Consequently, on Aug. 5 that year, the Marion Nazarene congregation was organized and Rev. Ernest Dearn was called as first pastor. He was followed in the local pastorate through the years since by 11 other ministers. Rev. Zimmerman came here in 1939.

First place of worship was in an upstairs hall on North State street. Shortly after organization, the group began to plan for a building of its own. In 1915, a building on South High street was completed, the frame structure which is known now as the American Legion Dugout. Outgrowing this building in a short time, the church then negotiated for purchase of the old Lutheran church on South State street, a brick edifice which had been constructed and dedicated by the Emanuel Lutheran congregation in 1880. On Sept. 22, 1919, purchase of the old Lutheran edifice was made. From time to time additions and alterations were completed.

Building Too Small

When Rev. Zimmerman came as pastor, it was evident that the building was to small to care adequately for an enlarged Sunday school. First special revival effort conducted by Rev. Zimmerman found the church crowded to the doors at several services. Early in 1943, the church board launched a building campaign with a view of building a new structure which would care for the growing congregation's needs. In June that year, a lot was purchased on the corner of South State street and Stark court as a building site. Plans were drawn in 1946. After efforts finally succeeded in getting permission to build the basement of the proposed new church in April this year, it was learned that the Central Christian church building would be for sale. Arrangements for its purchase were completed by the Nazarene officials in a few days, and a down payment was made on the congregation's new church home. The lot which was purchased for a building site had been sold.

A more intensive building fund drive was launched in an effort to raise $8,000 needed to make final payment on the West Church street building Nov. 1. Raising of this money has been done largely through the Sunday school. Last Sunday, nearly $1,600 was brought in, enough to take the fund "over the top," with additional funds which were to be brought in during this week, Rev. Zimmerman reported.

CAREY LAUNCHES DRIVE

Instructions Given Home Owners on Painting Walls and Woodwork

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

The high cost of skilled mechanics and tradesmen often keep the small homeowner from improving his house. If he only knew the technique, he could buy a few dollars worth of material and make the improvement himself.

One of the small things which make a room look well-furnished and above the average, is the presence of valances or cornices above the window frames. The drapes or curtains appear smoother and more expensive when they are crowned in this manner.

Any homeowner with the ability to use a hammer and a saw can make four cornices of the type illustrated, in a morning of steady work. The cost of the material should be less than $1 a cornice.

The first thing to do is to measure the window frame across the top. The second step is to nail small nailing-blocks or cleats to the edge of the sides at the top. Then you cut one piece of board to the exact measurement. This is the face or front of the cornice. You then cut two side-pieces deep enough to allow for your curtain-rods, drapes or shades. These are assembled as shown, and then a bead of molding is run around the top of the cornice in order to give it a decorative finish.

The best material to use is about a six-inch finishing strip for the front and sides, and a two-inch ordinary picture molding. If you own a mitre-box, it will be of great assistance in cutting the molding to exact angle so as to get a good neat finish. If you do not have one, they can be bought as cheap as a half-dollar, and are very handy things to have around the house.

The cornice should be painted before it is put in place, so that you will avoid paint-drips on the hangings below. The nail-holes in the side-pieces should be filled with putty or with plastic wood, and touched up.

The cost of bringing in a skilled carpenter or cabinet-maker to do this job might be estimated at about $40.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Home Painting Job

Q...I have contracted to have my home built, but must do all my own painting. How should I prepare new plastered walls for paint?

A. New plaster needs about two months or more (depending on the weather) to dry before it can be painted with oil paint. Fresh plaster, when dry, contains free lime that attacks paint oils and frequently ruins a paint job. This lime can be neutralized, which is done by brushing the walls with a solution of zinc sulphate in water, one pound to the gallon.

Apply liberally on the walls and allow at least three days for drying, or a week in damp weather. Small crystals that form should be brushed off. After this, you can paint with oil paint, being careful to follow manufacturer's directions for application. The priming coat must be properly applied, and remember that thin coats of paint will bond better than thick ones. Buy top-quality paints. Top-quality resin-emulsion, water-mixed paint or casein paint can be applied over plaster that is not completely dry. Mixing and thinning directions on the paint cans should be carefully followed.

Painting New Wood

Q. How should new wood be prepared for painting?

A. First the wood should be cleaned and made perfectly smooth. This can be done by rubbing with fine (0) sandpaper, then washing with turpentine. The surfaces can then be painted, enameled or varnished.

Paint for Metal Frames

Q. The windows of our cement blockhouse have metal frames which are painted with a silver or aluminum paint. Is there any way to repaint them to match our plywood walls?

A. Yes, you can paint over the metallic paint with two coats of enamel undercoater and a finish coat of enamel.

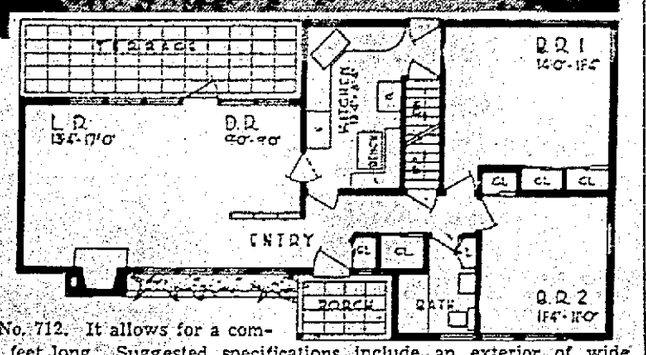
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

Designed for economical construction, this house allows for a future bedroom and second bath upstairs. It measures about 56 by 26 feet, making it suitable for a corner lot. It covers an area of about 1,100 square feet, which can be used as a guide for local cost estimates. Walter T. Anicka of Ann Arbor, Mich., is the architect. This is his plan No. 712. It allows for a combined living room-dining area 26 feet long. Suggested specifications include an exterior of wide dark gray shingles or siding in contrasts to vertical siding and whitewashed brick chimney with a roof of asphalt shingles in blended colors.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Lemons May Injure the Teeth

Lemons, which are available at almost all seasons of the year, are widely used and rightly so as a fairly cheap, rich and convenient source of vitamin C. However, according to Drs. Edward C. Stafne and Stanley A. Lovestedt, Mayo Clinic dentists, we have not been altogether wise in our ways of using this refreshing citrus fruit.

During recent years, they have found that the increasing use of lemonjuice has been accompanied by some injury to the structure of the teeth. They blame this effect on the practice of taking the juice in water immediately on getting up in the morning.

Fifty patients studied by these dentists had the habit of taking lemon juice in this way. All showed signs of tooth damage. Of these, 39, were women, 11 were men.

The most frequent reason given for taking the lemon juice was rheumatism. A number said they used it as a treatment for constipation. Some took it because they thought it helped to prevent and relieve colds, others regarded it as a tonic and, in some instances, it was used as a part of a reducing diet.

Of course, as I have stated, lemon juice is a good food because of the large amounts of vitamin C which it supplies. However, most doctors feel that there is no evidence that it will cure rheumatism or constipation or even prevent colds.

A marked loss of calcium or lime from the teeth was noted in some persons who had used the lemon juice for a few months only, in contrast to other instances of far less loss of lime even though the lemon juice had been employed for more than a year. This difference may be due to some variation in the amount of alkali in the saliva which would neutralize the acid of the lemon juice.

Thus, it would seem that damage to the teeth and loss of calcium from the teeth may occur as a result of injudicously drinking lemon juice, particularly if it is taken in large quantities daily and at times other than with meals.

It is, of course, important that everyone secure a sufficient quantity of vitamins in the diet, including vitamin C. However this vitamin may be obtained in sufficient amounts without using lemon juice improperly. Drs. Stafne and Lovestedt feel that the use of lemon juice as a daily drink in any appreciable quantity should be discouraged because of the harmful effects on the teeth which were noted.

On the other hand, if the physician believes that a daily use of lemon juice is advisable, he will inform the patient in just what manner and in what amounts it should be taken.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

T. Y.: Does a person with cerebral thrombosis have very long to live?

Answer: Cerebral thrombosis means the blocking of a vein in the brain by a blood clot. In some cases, such a condition may be immediately fatal. In other instances, depending on the location and size of the blood clot, almost complete recovery may take place.

Of course, it is impossible to predict just how long a person with such a condition might survive.

"Self-Defense" Plea Of Satira Supported

By International News Service

HAVANA, Nov. 1—The prosecution against Patricia (Satira) Schmidt was visibly shaken today over unexpected support given her self-defense story by the only other person aboard the "death yacht when her lover was fatally shot.

In a sudden apparent move to rally to the 22-year-old Toledo dancer's defense, Charles Jackson yesterday told a three-judge Havana court that the slain John Lester Mee "acted peculiarly" and suffered from war fatigue.

Jackson—of River Forest, Ill.—was Mee's wartime buddy and co-owner with the dead Chicago lawyer-poet of the yacht "Satira" where the latter was felled April 8 by a 22-calibre bullet.

The exotic nightclub entertainer previously has testified that she shot Mee during a violent argument in which he beat and kicked her, and threatened to kill her. Patricia also had said he was a neurosis victim of the war.

School Pupils Start Annual Junior Red Cross Enrollment

Marion city and county school pupils will join millions of others throughout the United States in the annual Junior Red Cross enrollment which gets under way today and continues through Nov. 15.

Enrollment in the Junior Red Cross is countywide with the various schools enrolling by rooms. Last year the total enrollment was 8,396 members. The theme of the organization is promotion of international peace and this is carried on in many ways, exchange of letters with boys and girls of other lands, exchange of scrap books, forwarding of gifts from members in the United States and other gestures of friendliness.

Founded by President Wilson in 1917, the Junior Red Cross has grown to a body 19,000,000 strong, recognized in this country and abroad as a youth organization with democratic vision.

Among the Services

In their communities, Junior Red Cross members work with the local Red Cross disaster service committee in aiding with relief for victims. One of their regular projects is fire prevention. Oother community projects include gifts to convalescent children with crippling diseases such as rheumatic fever and polio.

Likewise, servicemen and veterans in hospitals have been cheered by the gifts of this organization. Men on ships at sea are grateful for the gay menus and table decorations that brighten their Christmas dinner away from home.

The National Children's Fund, made up of the earned contributions of juniors to provide for educational rehabilitation programs overseas as well as for children's needs in this nation, is providing a flow of supplies that have been incredibly scarce—soap, tooth brushes, health necessities.

A quota of 1,000,000 gift boxes has been set for this year. Letters from displaced, "unaccompanied" children and from innocents in barren schoolrooms show how past gifts have been received. In quaint Dutch idiom comes this message from Rotterdam:

"How amiable to collect all of this for the Netherlands children! My beloved mother, whose tears ran for gladness, said, as she fingered a spool of thread, 'Now I can mend your clothes again. See, my boy, how God cares for us.' And from Toulouse a schoolboy writes, 'The Hip, Hip Hoorays were loud, but an ocean separates us and you have not been able to hear even the echo.'"

Aid To Peace

In these days when the United Nations is nurturing the slowly growing plant of international relations, the children's dollars, earned with their snow-shoveling, their carnivals and rummage sales, their dishwashing and paper-salvaging, are weaving a trellis on which may rest the greatest hope for peace.

Mrs. William K. Hamor is Junior Red Cross chairman and on her committee are Supt. E. E.Holt, head of the city schools, D. T. Mills, superintendent of the county schools, Orville Barnhart, advisors, Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Uton Anderson, Mrs. William Luse, Mrs. A. O. Linscott, Mrs. William Kimball, Mrs. Clare Smith and Dewey N. Boyner.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

MARYSVILLE — Mrs. Etta Moody of Byhalia pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting with intent to wound when she appeared before Justice William Snodgrass Friday morning and was freed on $200 bond to await action of the county grand jury.

Mrs. Moody is charged by Richard Vance, 22, of York with having fired a shot from a .410 gauge shotgun, on the night of October 30 at Byhalia, wounding Vance in the leg and side and Robert Boyce, 23, of near West Mansfield so seriously in the face and neck that he was taken to San Antonio hospital at Kenton. Mrs. Moody said that she had been annoyed nightly for almost two weeks by groups of boys. She said she fired the shot only to frighten the intruders and was not deliberately firing at the youths.

The word "gingham" derives from "ging gong" used by residents of Malaya and Java to describe cloth.

In Plain Words

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The government calls some of its information "top secret" or "secret" or "restricted."

A government official uses one of these labels on a piece of information he thinks should not be published.

But what do they mean and what's the difference between information that is "top secret" and "secret"? This is an explanation.

These labels have been used for years by certain government agencies like the army, navy and state department. This is understandable since much of their work involves the nation's welfare.

James Marlow

Couldn't an enemy use one of those labels to cover up its own mistakes when the nation's welfare is not involved? Sure. That's always a problem.

But some months ago President Truman brought standards or rules for using those labels should be drawn up for all government agencies.

The job was given to a group called the security advisory board, made up of representatives of the army, navy and state department.

This board has finished its work, after much public criticism, and sent its recommendations to Mr. Truman. He'll have to okay or reject them.

BUT HERE ARE examples of the labels as they are used by the army and the state department.

Top secret—Army:

1. Information on certain troop movements, such as sending General George Patton and his armored troops to North Africa in World War II.

2. Information on certain new or special methods of war, like the atomic bomb.

3. Information on war plans.

Top secret—state department:

1. Information which, if made public, could be expected to lead to war.

2. Information about his own country for a foreigner who, if it became public, might be killed.

Secret—army:

1. Information on an important event while it's happening, such as the sending of munitions to the coast of France during the Normandy invasion.

• • •

ANOTHER EXAMPLE MIGHT be an improvement in a tank before it got into battle. Once it was captured, there'd be no need for secrecy.

Secret—state department:

1. Information on highly important diplomatic codes which the state department uses in exchanging information with U. S. embassies abroad.

2. Information on important trends in foreign affairs which, if made public might endanger this country's welfare.

Confidential—army:

1. Information from confidential informants on army employes.

2. Routine information on battles if it would be of interest to an enemy, although not of vital interest.

Confidential—state department:

1. Information on investigations of a state department employe.

2. Certain information on diplomatic codes. (As noted above, some information on diplomatic codes is so important it's listed as secret).

Restricted—army:

1. Information indicating the number or location of troops even in places not near the battlefront.

Restricted—state department:

1. Information such as from an American ambassador abroad on what he thinks of a situation in a foreign country.

But would government agencies like the labor or agriculture departments ever be likely to have information that could be called "top secret" or "secret?"

Probably not, although they might have "confidential" information, such as on the investigation of an employe.

But if the Army sent "top secret" information to another government agency, like the agriculture department, it could expect the information to be kept "top secret."

Rockefeller Center Jarred by Blasts

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—A series of sharp explosions jarred the Rockefeller center area last night and early today as an accompanying underground fire poured clouds of oily smoke into the streets, jammed by theater crowds, and the lobby of the 70-story RCA building.

The blasts continued intermittently for more than two hours before the blaze, confined to the fireproof vault of a giant transformer, burnt itself out shortly before 1 a. m.

Unrelated to the fire but adding considerably to the excitement were the activities of a man who, police said, tossed two typewriters to the street from a window on the 41st floor of the RCA building and then smashed other equipment in the office where he was employed.

One of the machines, police reported, narrowly missed two pedestrians as it ripped through a canvas marquee in Rockefeller Plaza.

Patrolman John Zittel said he found Henry P. Emil, 36, in the wrecked office shortly before midnight. He said that windows and glass partitions had been smashed and that Emil was bleeding from a severe cut on his wrist. He was taken to Roosevelt hospital.

Northeastern Teachers Elect Surprise Chief

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1 — The 17,000 members of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers association were back home today after surprising the group's executive board by electing Lamar Scott Armstrong, Youngstown South High school history instructor, president.

Normally, delegates explained, a board member is selected, and this year principal C. C. Tuck of Cleveland West Technical High school, NEOTA vice president, was in line to succeed C. J. W. Luttrell, Lorain superintendent. But Tuck lost to Armstrong in the balloting.

The delegates went on record as:

1. Favoring a $2,400 annual minimum salary for Ohio teachers.

2. Disapproving a proposed amendment to the state constitution to divert liquid fuel tax revenues from the general revenue fund to the highway fund.

Start of TWA Flights To Mansfield Postponed

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—Trans World Airline service scheduled to begin today for Richmond, Ind., has been ordered cancelled by the civil aeronautics administration because of inadequate airport facilities, Ed Minser, assistant director of operations for TWA, announced last night.

In addition, Minser said, inauguration of flights to Zanesville and Mansfield, O., also will be deferred pending inspection of airports there by the CAA.

The CAA requires that airports be inspected and approved prior to inauguration of air line service, Minser explained.

Roving Reports

by Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

If I had a daughter—I'd be plenty glad to see her become the wife of the President of the United States.

That's where I don't see eye to eye with Mrs. Harry S. Truman. She says if she had a son she wouldn't raise him to be a president. No one could quarrel with a mother's wish to spare her son that fate.

But I can't go along with her statement that she wouldn't care to see her daughter as First Lady.

Hal Boyle

There are plenty of good reasons why a parent wouldn't want his boy to grow up to be the Great White Father. But there aren't so many arguments against letting your little girl grow up to boss the White House servants.

A president is a kind of queen bee, a prisoner of the people. He ceases to become an individual. We all feel we own a chunk of him, whether we voted for him or not.

He has to stand in line for hours at social functions he doesn't want to attend and shake hands with people he doesn't want to meet. He can't go around the house in pajamas, because he might run into a party of sightseers from Keokuk.

WHEN HE GETS UP to make a speech, he can't be sure whether he will be applauded or shot at. He can't even open strange Christmas packages for fear Santa Claus put a bomb in them.

He can't step down to the corner bar and have a beer with the boys, and most of his daily scenery consists of paper mountains blown over from the Capitol.

He is so closely guarded that he gets a kind of claustrophobia. People tell him he has the best job in the world, so he tries to hang on to it instead of trying a new line of work. He's in a run with no future and little fun.

For $75,000 a year it's not worth it. I wouldn't wish a life like that for my boy—if I had one.

Another reason I wouldn't want a son of mine elected president is that I know I would get tired of hearing gentlemen from the other party ask me:

"You had a chance to drown him as a pup. Why didn't you?"

BUT I'D BE HAPPY to have a daughter as First Lady anytime. It would solve her housing problem for at least four years, and she would always save a bunk for me—maybe Lincoln's old bed.

You wouldn't have to worry about her tiffing with her husband and coming home to papa. Wives don't leave the White House to go back to their parents.

She wouldn't have to fret about keeping up with the Joneses. She'd set the social pace herself. And she'd never have any doubts about the family breadwinner stepping out on her. The secret service wouldn't have any secrets from her. They'd be keeping tabs on the boss man 24 hours a day.

She'd have all the flattery and attention women love, the feeling of being a real power behind a real throne—the most powerful in history. No woman would want to miss that if it were within her clutch.

And since there are five living widows of presidents but only one living ex-president, she'd probably outlast her husband and make a million dollars selling her memoirs.

And if I were alive I could ghost write them for her, for a 25 per cent cut.

No, if I ever have a daughter I'd better not catch her jilting a man on his way to the White House.

spite their compliance, had taken a similar legal step.

Specifically, the Steelworkers questioned the board's authority to toss out 22 already-pending cases involving union petitions for collective bargaining rights.

The union filed with the board a petition declaring dismissal of these cases would be "illegal, invalid, based on an improper construction of the national labor relations act and the powers and duties thereunder, and unconstitutional."

Eugene Cotton, assistant council of the union, told reporters that "at some stage" of the challenge the Steelworkers will contest the non-Communist and financial information requirements.

STOLEN LARUE CAR FOUND IN ARKANSAS

Machine Abandoned on Texarkana Street.

Special to The Star

LARUE, Nov. 1—A car belonging to Andrew Ford, LaRue funeral director, which was stolen from in front of his home three weeks ago was reported found parked on a street in Texarkana, Ark., Ford received word this week.

The car, a new model purchased last spring, was parked in front of the Ford home and was thought to have been driven away about 7:30 p. m. Oct. 8. It was not missed until about 11 p. m. when Ford told his son Richard to put the car into the garage. He had noticed earlier that the car was not on the street and thought his son was driving it.

He was notified this week by the sheriff in Texarkana that the car had been found still bearing the same license plates with the doors locked and asked that an extra key and identification papers be sent there.

3 Ohio Boys Cause $4,500 Fire Damage

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1—Three 10-year-old boys set out yesterday to burn their school books and the resulting fire caused $4,500 damage to two one-room buildings at the emergency center of the Hamilton county child welfare board in suburban Wyoming.

Mrs. Helen Langdon, chief matron at the center, said the boys admitted they set fire to their books, became frightened and stuffed the burning books into a stove in one of the unoccupied buildings before fleeing.

The origin of the blaze was traced to a defect in the chimney of the stove by Fire Marshal Chester Held.

"We found school books burning in the stove," he told newsmen, "and it's possible that the fire flared up for a time, igniting the roof near the chimney defect.

Classes at the center, which is used as temporary quarters for children who are lost or abandoned, had been dismissed for the day because of a teachers meeting, Mrs. Langdon said, and the school buildings were vacant when the fire started.

Thieves Hold Up Party, Escaping with $60,000

By The Associated Press

PASSAIC, N. J., Nov. 1—Three armed, nonchalant thieves interrupted a Halloween television party in a home here last night and made off with an estimated $60,000 in cash, jewelry, fur coats and silverware.

While one man covered Mr. and Mrs. David Reisfeld and their guests with his gun, the others went through the house, Deputy Chief Michael Wynne said, collecting a jeweled ring valued at $30,000 by Mrs. Reisfeld, five fur coats, silverware and between $800 and $1,000 in cash.

During the robbery, the man covering the five guests asked Mrs. Reisfeld to mix him a drink. She did, and also gave him some cigarets when he asked for them.

Wynne said the men gained entrance to the house by brushing past Mrs. Reisfeld when she answered the doorbell.

Ex-Mansfield Couple Held in Baby's Death

By The Associated Press

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 1—A young couple who told detective Capt. Alfred Figel they came here last May from Mansfield, O., was held yesterday under bonds of $5,000 each pending investigation of the death of an infant whose body was found in a clothes closet of their home.

Loitering charges were placed against the couple, who gave their names as Mrs. Thelma Butler, 27, and Dennis Morris, 24.

Capt. Figel said the woman had told him she gave birth to the child unattended Wednesday night. She said when the child became cold she wrapped it up and, after placing it in the closet, returned to bed, Capt. Figel further quoted her.

The officer said the woman told him that when Morris returned later she informed him of the child's birth and he called a physician. The doctor found the baby dead and called police.

QUEEN

and escorts for the court attendants were James Coss, Robert Ralston, James Hill and Robert Short, all senior members of the football squad.

For the crowning ceremony the Harding band formed an outline of a large heart in the center of the field. From the point of this heart to the center, directly on the 50-yard line, the personnel of the football team formed an aisle, up which the queen and her attendants were escorted for the ceremony.

The two band mascots, Mike Fellabaum and Jax Carroll, carried the crown of flowers and the bouquet for the queen. After the crowning, the queen and her court retired to an especially built throne at the sidelines and reigned for the game.

The queen and each of her attendants was also presented a strand of pearls from Carroll's Jewelry store.

The queen and her attendants were driven around the field before the ceremony in a convertible. After the crowning and while the band was still in its heart formation, the band played "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and a chorus of the song was sung by Jim Rea.

Describes Ceremony

Miss Edith Brown, member of the Harding High school faculty, described the homecoming ceremony over the public address system.

Prior to the crowning ceremony, the band marched across the field in a moving block "H," followed by the flag raising ceremony with the playing of the National Anthem.

In its halftime program, the band celebrated Halloween along with homecoming. They started off their performance by maneuvering into the center of the field from various points around the field where they went into the word "Alumni" in recognition of homecoming. Stadium lights were out for this, with only band lights being used, and they played "Auld Lang Syne." From this, they went into a "C" for the visitors and played Circleville's fight song, "Across the Field."

Form Jack-o'-Lantern

Then, in tribute to Halloween, the band formed a large jack-o'-lantern and played "Legend of the Ghost." With the lights out, there suddenly appeared on the field an illuminated witch on a broomstick which maneuvered around on the field, and two skeletons appeared in front of the stadium. Then, as the band changed their music by playing a funeral march, "Dirge Dolore," the witch was pushed across the field in front of the stadium in a wheelbarrow which signified the death of the witch.

The skeletons were two drum majorettes, Dorothy Cooper and Elaine Everett, and the wheelbarrow was operated by Duane Brown. Properties and lighting effects for the formations were provided by Levi Welch, superintendent of school buildings, and D. A. Brown of Brown Radio Service. Homer Huffman, director of the Harding band, is being assisted with the marching band this year by George Lane.

To complete the program, the band formed the school letters and played the fight song and alma mater.

GALION

Hoffman headed a subcommittee which conducted a two-day hearing of witnesses who testified as to violence which has flared in the walkout.

"The main issue," said Gosser, is not the election. It is wages and working conditions.

"The union, realizing that the fascist statement of Representative Hoffman were attempts to incite the people of this community to shoot each other, believes it is in the interest of a democracy and God and certainly the desire of the UAW, that we avoid bloodshed as incited by one of our congressmen."

The union claims it represents 326 of 463 production employes in the telephone and electrical equipment plant. Employes in all departments of the plant total approximately 800.

Federal Conciliator Horace C. Vokoun was told by Gosser that he anticipated that the union local would reject the company's proposals.

Although for weeks the union had demanded a collective bargaining election, during this week's negotiations, it reversed itself and insisted on the card check.

The official explanation was that an election would be "unfair after 10 weeks of economic struggle."

The company contended at first that the union was ineligible for a national labor relations board election under the Taft-Hartley act because its international officers had not signed non-Communist affidavits. It also contended that the act guaranteed protection for all who wanted to work so long as the plant was open. During this week's negotiations, it insisted on some sort of a secret election as part of any agreement.

Asks Further Increase

Gosser told the meeting also that he "pleaded for the company to give at least a token increase" beyond the 15 per cent pay raise, but Robert Jamison, company attorney, countered that any further wage increase would be settled in future bargaining.

He and Gosser tossed statements back and forth disclosing minor features of the contract, but they agreed to withhold that actual text until it had been presented to the membership.

"If our people do not accept this contract," Gosser said at the conclusion, "I accept the challenge that we are on our own."

Gosser accused the company of intending to "put out propaganda against the UAW" and to try to get some other union to petition the NLRB for an election before a federal arbiter could complete the card check scheduled by Nov. 15. He also said he would "gladly throw this contract out the window if the company will promise not to hire any but its own people here."

Jamison retorted "that the company has no plans to hire strike-breakers," but that the plant will be open for all who care to work.

"We will abide by the Taft-Hartley act," Jamison said, "and we have agreed not to discharge anyone except for just cause."

Gosser interjected here that this was for six-months only.

The strike has been marked by several outbreaks, including a 12-hour siege of 350 non-strikers Oct. 22. The plant was closed from the start of the strike until Oct. 13, then was kept open until the siege and finally closed under a truce that released the people inside pending final negotiations of the issues.

BRITONS FORBIDDEN PRIVATE MOTORING

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 1 — Britons grudgingly gave up another of their pleasures today, foregoing private motoring to save dollars by saving gasoline.

Under the British government's latest austerity order—effective last midnight—a private citizen can't drive his car at all, except on "essential business."

Officials estimate the ban will save approximately 9,000,000 pounds ($36,000,000) a year of dwindling dollar credits.

A few hours before the deadline, motorists—armed with cans, saucepans and even jugs—jammed filling stations, determined to get every drop of their ration.

"They tell me," one attendant said, "they are going to take the last drop they are entitled to and intend to put the petrol in bottles when they get home."

Effect of the travel ban will be to confine the Briton more closely to his unheated home where once he could find some solace in an extra serving of tea.

Now there isn't enough tea either. That ration recently was cut to half a pound a month—inadequate for the inhabitants of this nation of traditional tea drinkers.

Surprisingly, the people accepted the cut in tea supplies with only a mild amount of grousing. Reductions in bacon, fresh meat and other food allowances brought no organized protests.

But abolition of the basic petrol ration—enough to drive 180 miles a month—aroused a storm of opposition.

Automobile clubs circulated petitions nationally, gathering well over 1,000,000 signatures, and carried the fight into the house of commons this week to give the government its severest test since it came to power more than two years ago.

A motion for restoration of the gas ration lost by only 27 votes, compared with the usual government majorities of about 150.

DAYTON STATION ROBBED

U.S. SEEKS SUPPORT FOR PALESTINE PLAN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1—A United States "hurry-up" proposal for creation of soverign Arab and Jewish nations in Palestine by next July 1 hinged today on British, Arab and Russian acceptance.

An authoritative source hinted that the United States might be willing to seek a compromise with Russia over differences now existing between these two major powers on the future of a partitioned Holy Land.

This development came as a special Palestine sub-committee of the United Nations assembly prepared to resume debate at 11 a. m. in secret session on measures for implementing the proposed partition.

The Russians have suggested that any partition enforcement measures be placed under the jurisdiction of the 11-nation security council where the five big powers have the veto.

The U.S. has proposed that the general assembly establish a three-man UN commission to go to Palestine after any proposed partition decision is taken and act in any advisory capacity to the two new countries until independence is established.

clothed, swam 40 feet to the girl and grabbed her arm, Scott, meanwhile, waded to a point opposite her, dived and took hold of her other arm. They were unable to tow her in. Miss Ferry then asked them to release their holds.

Pierce swam about three feet, called for help and sank. Scott swam against the strong current for 30 feet in an attempt to get help, finally climbing on a rock, winded and tired. Miss Ferry continued to tread water until 15 minutes later, when Hess reached her and supported her briefly until men arrived with ropes.

By that time Scott had reached the bank. He waded on the dam and lowered a rope to Hess, and helped pull them to safety.

HARDING FELLS CIRCLEVILLE, 37-6; ST. MARY WINS, 25-6

Long Runs Feature Win No. 6 Viewed by 3,100 Homecomers

By BILL DIEM

Harding High school gridders smashed the Circleville Tigers, 37-6, before a homecoming crowd of 3,100 at the stadium last night, and everybody got into the act.

After speedy Clarence Smith's 50 and 61-yard touchdown gallops put the Prexies ahead, 12-0, in the first quarter, Coach Pete Howison began sending in substitutes and before the game was done, 28 men saw action.

Smitty's toting average hit 24.8 yards per lug in six tries before he retired at the start of the second quarter.

Team running average was 7.2 yards a try in 45 running plays as the Prexy machine had an easy time taking their sixth win.

The light Tigers took the kickoff, couldn't advance, punted, recovered a fumble and still they couldn't get anywhere. Their next punt went out of bounds on the Harding 38.

Coss Makes 12

Big Jim Coss picked up 12 yards on a quarterback spinner on the first Harding offensive play, and Smith cut loose for 50 yards and the touchdown on the second. Cutting through right tackle, Smith was clear on the Circleville 40 and streaked down the right sidelines untouched.

Circleville again failed to develop an advance after taking the kickoff and punted from their own 33.

Smith ran back the punt 20 yards and added 10 more on an end sweep. Dick Huddle—fired maybe by the kiss he bestowed upon Queen Iris Eckels after crowning her in a pre-game ceremony—broke away for a 25-yard gain but the Prexies took a 15-yard clipping penalty on the same play.

From his own 39, Smith streaked around left end and outran the Circleville secondary defense to score the second tally on a 61-yard dash.

Huddle Scores

The third Prexy drive started late in the first quarter on their 39 after Smith had returned a punt 31 yards with the aid of a key block by Jim Coss. Smith swept around left end for 19 yards on that march to the three, and Dick Huddle went around end for the score.

The Prexy substitutes had a little more trouble getting under way when they came in, but got in another touchdown before the first half ended. Starting on their own 23, the Presidents marched down to the Circleville one-yard line in 14 plays and Jim Hill plunged for pay dirt. Gherman, Huddle and Hill took turns carrying on that drive and Tom Taylor took a pass from Ray Phillians for six more yards. Dick Gherman dropkicked his only conversion in five tries for the extra point.

The Prexies opened up fast in the third quarter with Harry Dowler scoring on the third offensive play on a 47-yard dash. Starting through right tackle, Dowler cut to his left and scooted past the Tiger secondary to go over standing up.

Merle Daum nipped a Tiger threat in the third period before it started rolling by intercepting a pass from John Phieffer on the Harding 48, and early in the final period, Dick Leffler stopped another threat with a pass interception after Circleville had advanced to the Harding 31.

After an exchange of punts in the final quarter, the Tigers came to life and drove 42 yards to make their only score with halfback David Crawford supplying the spark and the final 10-yard plunge.

Taking a punt at midfield, Harding rolled out one more touchdown before the game ended, with two long passes—from Phillians to Roger Andrews and from Dick Leffler to Gherman—accounting for 60 yards of the advance. Leffler's toss to Dick Gherman in the end zone made the score 37-6. Circleville got in one play before the final gun sounded.

TWO PLAYERS INJURED IN GAME LAST NIGHT

Sophomore back George Browning of Harding, out with an injured knee most of the season, reinjured his knee in the fourth period of last night's game after returning a punt 28 yards and sparking the sub attack during the third and fourth periods.

Circleville end Dean Smallwood took a pass, ran into a sideline bench as the first half ended and broke a tooth. He left for home during the half time intermission.

Groundhog Leads Way to Coal Vein

By The United Press

SCULLTON, Pa. — Elmer Pletcher, a storekeeper and lumber dealer, is now in the coal business, thanks to a groundhog.

Pletcher decided to hunt woodchucks on his farmland. He tracked one to its den.

Unlike regular groundhog diggings, small lumps of coal were mixed with the earth. Pletcher used a pick and shovel and found that the chuck had burrowed his subterranean apartment in a five-and-one-half foot vein of coal.

The vein lies under a tract of more than five acres and Pletcher plans to strip the area of its black diamonds.

COLUMBUS ELEVEN BOOKED BY ANGELS

Chippewas To Play at Stadium Tonight.

Safety Cab Angels meet the Columbus Chippewas in Harding stadium at 8 tonight.

The Cabbies will be working on their fifth win. They've topped Columbus Hilltoppers, Worthington Independents, Mendon Rec Jackets, and Dayton Rockets. Indianapolis All-Stars, Lockland Legion, and Sheridan Merchants have slipped by the locals.

The Chippewas are replacing the defunct Dayton Bombers on the Angel schedule.

Angel Coach Gene Fetter will probably start Max Roseberry at left end, Charles Lust, left tackle, Jack Whalen, left guard, King Keller, center, Martin Lewis, right guard, Bill Fate, right tackle, Jim Gilmore right end, Leo Belknap, quarterback, Bob Ivey, left halfback, Bud Reams, right halfback, and Bill Scott, fullback.

Playing-coach Tom O'Keefe of the Chippewas will probably start at right tackle, and the rest of the probable Chippewa lineup reads: ends, Hoffman and Kessler, left tackle, Metzger, guards, Hively and Tarbox, center, Holtz, quarterback, Williams, halfbacks, Hand and McGovern, and fullback, Johnson.

LA RUE ENDS SEASON WITH 24-6 VICTORY

LaRue finished another undefeated season in 8-man football by handing the first defeat of the year to a strong Howard team, 24-6 last night on the Knox county gridiron. The LaRue record was marred by two ties, one with Caledonia and the other with Bloomdale.

LaRue scored early in the second period on a short buck by Lightfoot after John Tate had carried the ball to the one yard line on an end around play. Lightfoot again bucked over in the third period after a pass from Wilson to Brocklesby set up the score.

John Tate took a lateral from Brocklesby to gallop 30 yards for a touchdown in the final period. Ralph Wilson returned to the LaRue lineup for the first time since spraining an ankle in the Caledonia game. He converted after all three LaRue scores.

Burke Ballinger, LaRue quarterback was out of the LaRue lineup with a broken ankle received last week.

BEXLEY BOBCATS CLAW KENTON WILDCATS, 26-12

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 1—The Bexley Bobcats came from behind here last night to outscore the Kenton Wildcats, 26-12.

Kenton opened the scoring when Decker plunged from the one to climax an early touchdown drive that began when the Wildcats recovered a Bexley fumble on the 42.

A Campbell to Burret pass connected for the Bobcats and Burret went 25 yards to tie up the score.

Kenton went ahead in the second period on a 69-yard drive topped off by a 35-yard touchdown pass from Decker to Pugh.

Bexley's halfback Campbell cut loose with a wicked aerial attack that netted the Bobcats 17 and 14-yard advances, and Campbell added 15 more yards on an end run. Stone scored from the 13, and Bernlor's placement put the Bobcats ahead, 13-12, at the half.

Kenton made a goal line stand in the third period, but the Bobcats pushed over two more tallies in the final quarter, a beautifully executed screen pass from Campbell sending Burret 38 yards to score one, and Campbell adding the other on a 16-yard end run.

White Sox Chief Wars Against Chandler Alone as Loop Heads Back Commissioner

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Editor

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1—Shorn of support by seven other American league clubs, Chicago White Sox General Manager Leslie M. O'Connor plans an unprecendented "Lone Hand" assault on Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to escape a $500 fine and suspension for signing a high school southpaw pitcher.

The Chicago official, following a six-hour closed session yesterday in which the junior loop's club owners voted to replace him on baseball executive council, said he would seek a restraining order against the commissioner's edict in Cincinnati's federal court next week.

Chandler, notified of the league's 7-0 vote to replace O'Connor, declared at his Versailles, Ky., home, that "naturally, I am appreciative of the confidence the American league has shown in me." The commissioner had requested President Will Harridge of the American league to name a replacement for O'Connor to participate in the Nov. 6-7 executive council session at Cincinnati, if the Chicago officials were unable to act due to the suspension.

At Chicago White Sox Publicity Director Ward Stevens said O'Connor had Commissioner Chandler "in a vise and there's nothing he (Chandler) can do about it. The club can't lose, no matter what the other American league officials did."

President Harridge, summing up the six-hour session, declared:

"From now on, any action is Mr. O'Connor's personal business, and that of the White Sox. Like any business, baseball is anxious to stay out of the courts, but the American league cannot prevent any member club from going into court.

"Speaking as the league's president, we recognize Commissioner Chandler's interpretation of the rules, and the league will not be a party to any court action."

O'Connor bases his case on the premise that the White Sox did not violate baseball rules in signing 17-year-old George Zoeterman of Chicago's Christian High school, since that institution is not a member of the National Federation of High Schools. Baseball law says students of federation schools may not be signed, but Chandler, in two bulletins issued earlier this year, ruled that students of all high schools are under the contract ban. O'Connor disputes Chandler's broadening of the rule interpretation.

O'Connor and the White Sox club were suspended Oct. 29 for failure to pay a $500 fine levied Sept. 26 for the signing of the young lefthander.

BARBERTON REMAINS ATOP GRIDIRON HEAP

Survives Leadership "Jinx"; Fremont Humbled by Elyria.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1—Barberton's Magics today remained atop the Ohio schoolboy football pack after soundly trimming rugged Canton Lincoln, 22-0, last night in the state's feature high school grid contest.

In winning their eighth triumph against no defeats, the Magics—voted No. 1 this week in The Associated Press Sports writers poll—defied the leadership jinx that plagued all predecessors. Until last night, the "team of the week" invariably lost the first game after being voted the top slot in the sports writers first 10 selections.

Barberton had company in the 8-0 class when Gallipolis strolled to the Southeastern conference title with a 13-0 triumph over Nelsonville and Troy's hard-hitting Miami Valley league contenders squeaked to their 18th straight victory, 26-25, over Lima South.

The scribes' second pick of the week, Middletown, suffered its first blemish when the Middies were held to a 13-13 deadlock by Portsmouth's Trojans after winning 7 in a row.

Elyria, fifth in the select list, knocked the props from fourth place Fremont Ross running roughshod, 39-7. Ross boasted an unblemished record until last night.

HOMECOMING GAME WON BY MT. GILEAD

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 1—The Mt. Gilead Indians stopped Fredericktown here last night, 12-0, scoring both touchdowns on long runs in the final period.

After taking possession on their own 35, the Indians went to the Fredericktown 37 in two first downs, and Lawrence Burnell cut through tackle and streaked 37 yards to score.

A similar set up followed late in the period when Jack Lancaster went 37 yards on a reverse to score a second touchdown.

During intermission, Frances Higgins was crowned Homecoming Queen by Captain Nelson Campbell.

The Indians journey to Marion next Friday to meet St. Mary in the Mid-State finale.

Irish Have No Trouble Making Sunbury Season's Victim No. 6

Marion St. Mary added Sunbury to their string of five wins last night by downing the Tigers, 25-6, before 600 fans at Sunbury.

The Irish made two quick touchdown marches in the first quarter and one each in the third and fourth periods to take the Tigers with ease.

Ed Murphy climaxed the opening drive by plunging over from the four-yard line. Dick Werley's kick for the extra point was not good.

Baldauf Plunges Over

After recovering a Sunbury fumble on the Tiger 40, the Irish started on another touchdown march, with John Baldauf supplying the final 10 yards on a plunge.

The second quarter was played on even terms and neither team developed a drive.

The Irish came back after the half time intermission and drove down to the Sunbury five-yard line. Baldauf went through the line for pay dirt.

In the final period the Irish rolled down to the Sunbury 25 and Dick Schuler streaked around left end for the rest of the distance. Dick Werley's kick made the score 25-0.

Coach Gene Fetter sent in the substitutes and Sunbury started a drive that pushed to the Irish five. Left halfback Carter plunged for the only Tiger score.

Joling Joe Maniaci was the big stumbling block to the Tigers, drilling through the line from his position at right guard to stop the Sunbury runners. Maniaci didn't start but came in soon after the game started and played the game out.

The Irish season record stands at six wins and two defeats with one game left on the schedule. Mt Gilead will come to Marion next Friday night for the Irish finale and the last Mid-State game in the league.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

ROBERT MITCHUM, GREER GARSON AND RICHARD HART are shown above as they appear in a scene from the dramatic production "Desire Me," which will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Greer Garson Stars In Palace Feature

Greer Garson has the starring role in "Desire Me" as a desperate woman who is forced to choose between two men in one of the most dramatic triangles brought to the screen. The film, which has Richard Hart and Robert Mitchum as the leading men, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

The story is of Marise, a French girl in a small fishing village, who, believing her soldier husband, Paul, (Robert Mitchum) to be dead, yields to the attractions of Jean (Richard Hart) the man who returns to Marise's village to tell her that Paul had been his fellow-prisoner of the Germans. It is not long before Marise discovers that Jean has fallen in love with her, and only by the descriptions that Paul had given him of her.

At first, Marise is confused but finally feels that Jean needs her and promises to start a new life with him in Paris.

Added attractions will include a Pete Smith short, "Athletic Quiz," a Disney technicolor cartoon, and the latest news.

"The Woman on the Beach" starring Joan Bennett, Robert Ryan and Charles Bickford is billed to be shown Wednesday and Thursday. Short features will be a Little Lulu cartoon, a Leon Errol comedy and news.

The film is the dramatic story of a woman and two men whom destiny has thrown together on an isolated rock-bound sea coast. Joan Bennett portrays the wife of an artist, played by Bickford, who is totally blind.

A double feature, "Gunfighters" and "A Likely Story," will be shown Friday and Saturday.

The former, starring Randolph Scott and Barbara Britton, is filmed in cinecolor and tells of one Brazos Kane, gunfighter of the Southwest, who tries to start a peaceful life in a new section of the country and finds that his reputation won't let him.

"A Likely Story," a comedy-drama, stars Barbara Hale and Bill Williams. It is a story of young love, more or less kind-hearted gangsters and an insurance policy on a dying man who proves to be in the best of health.

"The Unsuspected" Playing at Ohio

Murder, against a radio background, highlights the mystery thriller, "The Unsuspected," which opened Friday at the Ohio theater and will continue playing through Thursday.

Five stars head the cast including Joan Caulfield, Claude Rains, Audrey Totter, Constance Bennett and Hurd Hatfield, and a newcomer to the screen is introduced, Michael North.

The unusual story surrounds the personality of a radio performer, played by Claude Rains, whose weekly airings of murder mysteries have put him at the top of his profession. Most of the action takes place in his large country estate, where he creates his weekly shows, records the dialog and rehearses the scripts.

Surrounding Rains are Joan Caulfield as his ward, Audrey Totter as a designing niece, and Hurd Hatfield her weakling husband. Michael North comes into the picture when he appears uninvited at a party.

"Nightmare Alley" starring Tyrone Power, with Joan Blondell, Coleen Gray and Helen Walker, will be shown for seven days starting Friday.

Based on a sensational novel by William Lindsay Gresham, the film presents Tyrone Power in the role of Stan Carlisle, a ruthless carnival barker turned mentalist who succeeds in vaudeville, night clubs and finally his own phony racket by preying on the fears of others. Joan Blondell, as Zeena, teaches Power the secrets of her mind-reading act. Coleen Gray is the girl Power marries and who joins him in a carnival act. Helen Walker, as Lilith Ritter, is a psychologist who betrays Power in his racket.

JOAN CAULFIELD AND CLAUDE RAINS, shown above, head the cast in the suspenseful drama, "The Unsuspected," which opened Friday at the Ohio theater and will run through Thursday.

"The Hucksters" On Bill at Marion

The popular filmization of the best-seller, "The Hucksters," starring Clark Gable and the English star Deborah Kerr, and "Silver Stallion," a film about the wild horse herds of Arizona starring David Sharpe and Janet Waldo, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

"The Hucksters," a story about the radio advertising business, has Gable in the role of Vic Norman, advertising salesman, who becomes a "huckster" for the Kimberly Advertising Agency and who uses everything he's got to put over the firm's radio campaign for a soap. "Silver Stallion" is primarily a wild horse picture but tells of a young outlaw who matches his wits and gunplay with the bad men of the plains.

"Boomerang," starring Dana Andrews, Jane Wyatt and Lee J. Cobb, and "Jewels of Brandenburg" with Richard Travis, Micheline Cheirel, Leonard Strong and Carol Thurston, are the two attractions billed for Tuesday and Wednesday.

The former brings exciting screen life to the strangest case in American court history, the gripping story of a man, a state's attorney, who placed a higher value on the life of another man than on his own political ambitions.

The double feature for Thursday through Saturday will be "The Stranger from Ponca City" and "High Conquest." The former stars Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette, and heading the cast in the latter are Anna Lee, Gilbert Roland and Warren Douglas.

"The Stranger from Ponca City" is another in the "Durango Kid" series which this time has Durango fighting against a reign of terror being imposed on the citizens of a small frontier town.

Evelyn Keyes Starred On State Program

"Thrill of Brazil" starring Evelyn Keyes and Keenan Wynn, and "Wyoming Hurricane" with Russell Hayden will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Billed as a double feature Tuesday and Wednesday are "They Made Me a Killer" and "Tokyo Rose." The former stars Robert Lowery and Barbara Britton, and heading the cast in the latter are Byron Barr and Lotus Long.

Ronald Reagan and Alexis Smith are starring players in the film, "Stallion Road," which will be the main attraction of a double feature to be shown Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Personality Kid" with Anita Louise and Michael Duane.

June Haver in Picture At Drive-In Theater

A technicolor musical, "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," starring June Haver and Dick Haymes, is billed to be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Marion Drive-In theater, located on Route 23 north of Marion. Added attractions will include a sport short, "Army Football Champions," news and a color cartoon, "Smoked Hams."

Wednesday and Thursday the attraction will be "Bowery to Broadway" starring Maria Montez and Donald O'Connor, plus a variety, "Broncho Babes," a color cartoon, "Carnival Courage" and news.

Perry Como and Vivian Blaine head the cast in the film, "If I'm Lucky," which will be shown Friday and Saturday. Short features will be a Schilling and Lane comedy, "Pardon My Terror," a screen snapshot, a color cartoon, "Fair Weather Fiend" and news.

JAP FOES FIGHTING OVER REPARATIONS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — An eight-months dispute among the wartime Pacific Allies over reparations from Japan was disclosed today after the Philippines had put in a $4,198,675,244 bill for damage suffered from the invaders.

Lifting some of the secrecy surrounding sessions of the 11-nation Far Eastern commission, it was revealed that:

1. With the sole exception of Canada, every one of Japan's World War II foes has claimed a larger share of the reparations pool—whose size is yet to be determined—than the others consider justified.

2. Only the Philippines put a dollar value on her loss. On a proportionate basis, the other claims—which were only in percentages of the future total pot—would add up to some $54,000,000,000.

3. China thinks she is entitled to 40 per cent of whatever is obtained from Japan under terms of the peace treaty which is yet to be drafted. The United States put in a 29 per cent bid, Australia 28 per cent, Britain 25 per cent, the Philippines 15 per cent, India 12.5, France, Netherlands and Russia each 12 per cent; New Zealand, 2 per cent; and Canada, 1.5 per cent. Earlier claims were even higher.

4. All added up to 188 per cent of the ultimate pool. The Far Eastern commission has been striving since last February, thus far in vain, for agreement on the manner in which the shares shall be scaled down to the necessary 100 per cent.

5. Although the ultimate size of the reparations pool is conjectural, a rule-of-thumb total of some $14,000,000,000 has been used as a working basis in the efforts to agree on shares.

The information came from an authoritative official source after the Philippine figures were published in Manila.

Precedence suggested the United States might turn back to Japan whatever share is alloted to this country, or divide it among Allies who suffered directly from occupation and invasion.

REPORT HALLOWEEN MILD

BUCYRUS—A false fire alarm on the south side Thursday night was believed the work of Halloween pranksters, Police Chief Arthur Stuckert said today. As a whole pranks were mild this year and little damage from over-enthusiastic celebrators was reported. Two business establishments promoted events to attract the attention of celebrators, the Lott Motor Sales sponsoring a Halloween poster contest for which cash prizes were offered and the Seits Motor Sales distributing eskimo pies to all celebrators who called at the sales room, Friday night.

New York Stock Quotations

1 O'CLOCK QUOTATIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Selective bidding propped individual stocks today although many market leaders lacked support.

Dealings were slow from the opening on and fractional irregularity ruled near the final hour.

Chrysler recorded a modest advance in the wake of a lifted disbursement which, it was suggested, had been expected. Eastern Air Lines, on the other hand, dipped to a 1947 bottom following an omitted dividend and statement showing a net loss for the third quarter.

Ahead at intervals were Bethlehem, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Anaconda, General Electric, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Co.

Occasional losses were Santa Fe, N.Y. Central, Great Northern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Westinghouse, Sperry, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison and Public Service of N.J.

LEGISLATOR OPPOSES GAS TAX AMENDMENT

Rep. Robinson Talks Against Measure in LaRue.

Special to The Star

LARUE, Nov. 1—Kenneth A. Robinson, Marion county representative to the Ohio legislature, opposed the liquid fuels tax amendment to the constitution in a talk before the LaRue Business Men's association Thursday night. He said the amendment would tie the hands of the legislature in exercising proper judgment and upset the regular tax program of the state. He told the group the legislature had appropriated an amount to the road fund equal to the amount of the liquid fuel tax. These funds were to be used chiefly to match federal government road aid thereby enabling the state to get far more in the way of road money.

Mr. Robinson had been invited to address the group on the tax situation and particularly the liquid fuels amendment. Harry Boyd, newly chosen president, presided. Thirty-five members were present.

AUTO STOLEN HERE FOUND IN WOOSTER

Coupe Taken from Used Car Lot Abandoned.

Thieves forced a back window of the Reliable Auto Sales at 895 East Center street Thursday night and made off with a 1941 coupe which was recovered today, police reported.

The theft was first noticed by Paul Elsey, an employe of the agency at about 11 a. m. yesterday. He reported it to the police. Robert E. Simpson, manager of the auto sales lot, said that after forcing the window the thieves had then gone into the office and taken four keys from a large ring belonging to the cars in the used car lot. Evidently the coupe was the only one that suited their fancy for the rest of the cars were left unmolested. As far as he can ascertain, nothing else was taken.

Police broadcast a description of the car yesterday and a report was received this morning from the Wayne county sheriff at Wooster that the car had been found. The auto apparently had only been wanted for transportation for the sheriff said that the car was in good condition. No clue has yet been found as to identity of the thieves.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

OLGA'S reply was prompt and decided.

"It would be best that you see Olina in her own room," she said. "If you will extend your hospitality to us a little longer, we can stay down here while you go up and talk to her. Do you not think so, dear Philip?"

The regal wife of Philip Veritzen turned to him with the utmost deference, as if, I told myself, she were a reigning queen instead of an exiled one, and her husband a royal consort, instead of a "bar sinister" connection of the husband to whom she had been married by court arrangement, after she and Philip, an officer of the court, had been torn from each other, their romance shattered by decree of the old king, Philip's grandfather.

But I knew that Olga's love for the sweetheart of her youth, reunited with her so miraculously in their autumnal years, had in it a touch of reverential admiration—although she could be amused, and troubled, by his mannerisms, and his faults—which was like sweet incense to the soul of her adoring husband, the doyen of Broadway impresarios.

"Of course, my dear," he answered promptly. "Whatever you decide is always right."

"Then," I said, rising, "I shall go up to your apartment at once."

"If you can manage to exist without me for a few minutes," Dicky told our guests, with a face as grave as that of a "hanging judge" the while he put his hand beneath my elbow, "I will escort my liege lady to your stronghold and hear the portcullis fall behind her before returning to your side."

"We'll guard your castle until your return," Olga told him, smiling.

"Which will be anon," Dicky answered, as we went out of the door.

But when it had closed behind us he dropped the badinage.

"Look here, old dear," he said, as we climbed the stairs to the Philip Veritzen apartment, ignoring the elevator, "I'm wondering if you're going to get away with this stunt of keeping Mary and Noel away from the royal wedding."

There was a slight edge in his voice at the last words, and I realized, not for the first time, the contemptuous aversion which tinges his reactions to Georges whenever the royal playboy offends him. And Georges had been particularly offensive to Dicky in his real or fancied intimation that Mary, our beloved niece, might be emotionally affected by witnessing his wedding to Olina.

"What do you mean?" I parried, for I had my own secret doubts concerning that particular angle of the wedding plans.

"Simply this—that you'll have to watch your step with Mary. If she gets the slightest inkling that Georges thinks her heart might skip a beat or two if she should hear him bleat 'I do,' an assortment of horses, camels, asses and zebras, all wild, couldn't keep her from the Sag Harbor farmhouse."

"I know," I said despondently, too anxious over the situation to laugh at his nonsensical way of putting things, as I usually do.

"Don't let it get you down, Sweet," he said, squeezing my elbow. "Despite all the know-it-all sharks, you and I know that Mary wouldn't die or even have a serious setback, if she and Noel should attend that wedding. She might have to slap Georges' face again, and we might have to insert Noel in a straightjacket, but those are the worst possible things that could happen."

"Your optimism thrills me," I answered with a laugh.

"That was my object," he said unblushingly. "Well, here we are at the drawbridge. Now here's a command. When you conclude this interview, use that modern invention of the devil, the telephone, to command my presence. I'll trot up and get you. Oh, I know; Dad has guards around. But with this set-up of Georges, I prefer to be with you outside our own barred doors and windows until you have 'K's' sheltering arm between you and danger. But don't let me hear of that sheltering arm getting too close, or the FBI will lose one of its most promising young men."

"Oh, Dicky, stop!" I pleaded. "Somebody will hear you."

The door on which he had knocked opened on the instant, and Noel looked out at us in surprise and sudden uneasiness.

"Mary—" he began, but I cut him short.

"Mary is perfectly all right," I said, "sound asleep. But I must see Olina alone for a few minutes. Will you please tell her I am here, and then will you please go into your own room and stay there until I let you know that I am ready to go?"

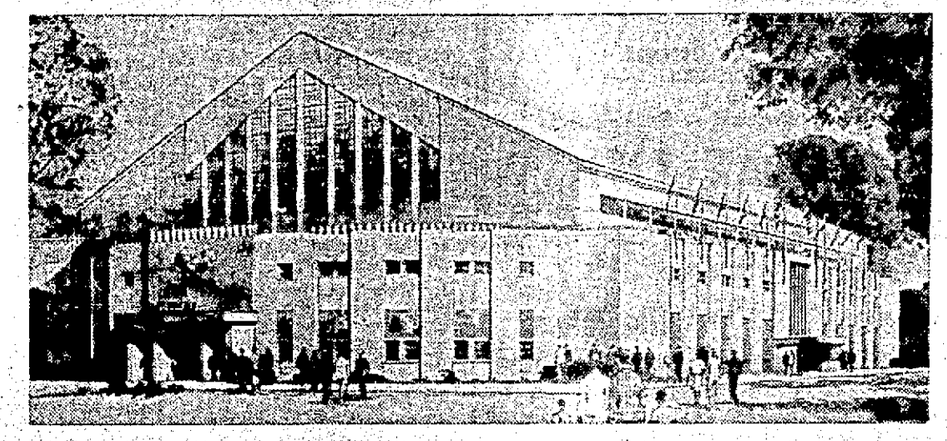
Marion County Veterans Memorial Coliseum



DO NOT READ THIS—unless you are interested in making Marion County the leader in the State, with a Coliseum second to none, which will offer the finest facilities for all types of activities from sports to religion. This sports center and exhibition hall will be open to all Civic, Educational, Religious, Agricultural and other organizations including Veterans and Industrial groups and Granges. In addition it will afford a stage and arena for musicals, ice shows, rodeos, all types of athletic and sports events, symphonies and even grand opera.

Whether you are interested in a high school basketball game or a flower show, a track meet or a religious forum, a Grange Convention or a Hockey game, a machinery exhibit or a style show, the Veterans Memorial will adequately and comfortably handle them all. It will serve the entire County of Marion, and its central location in the County will bring many events, which now are to be found only in the larger metropolitan areas of the state, within easy reach of us. Other uses for this Coliseum include dancing, boxing, wrestling, tennis, Boy Scout Jamborees, Livestock exhibitions and Junior Fair Activities. It's full possibilities are almost endless.

PROPOSED TAX LEVY

MARION COUNTY, OHIO

An agricultural tax for the benefit of Marion County and Marion County Agricultural Society for the PURPOSE OF ERECTING A COLISEUM AND EXHIBIT BUILDING AS A WAR MEMORIAL UPON THE MARION COUNTY FAIRGROUNDS, MARION COUNTY, OHIO, at a rate not exceeding one (.001) mill for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to ten ($.10) cents for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for a period of five (5) years, and shall be levied annually on all taxable property in Marion County, Ohio, outside the ten (10) mill limitation for payment of said building.

X	For Agricultural Tax Levy
	Against Agricultural Tax Levy

As a recreation and sports center it will materially reduce the need for other projected recreation facilities in the County as well as the city of Marion. The cost to the taxpayer will be negligible — only 10c on each hundred dollars of taxable valuation each year for five years. What more beneficial and satisfying investment can we make for our children, our veterans, and ourselves?

$140,000 REPORTED AS TOP RAIL SALARY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was the nation's highest-paid railway executive in 1946 with a salary of $140,000, interstate commerce commission figures showed today.

The ICC's annual survey of railroad salaries also revealed that a number of officials earning $10,000 or more increased by about 50 per cent between 1940 and 1946. The survey showed 16,883 executives in that class last year.

After Clement on the ICC list were A. T. Mercier of Southern Pacific with $100,000, and Gustav Meetzman of the New York Central with $90,000. F. G. Gurley of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe was paid $80,000, and Robert J. Bowman of Chesapeake and Ohio got $78,000.

The following railroads paid their presidents $75,000 salaries in 1946:

Baltimore and Ohio, up from $60,000 in 1945; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, up from $50,000; Delaware and Hudson, up from $60,000; Erie, up from $60,000; Reading, Norfolk and Western; and Southern. The last three roads also paid $75,000 salaries to their presidents in 1945.

The report said there were 32 railroad officers with salaries of $60,000 and above in 1946, compared to 26 in 1945.
